Taft Offers Compromise To Keep Men in Service

Would Keep All Draftees, Guardsmen, Reservists In Service for 16 Months

Ohio Senator Offers Plan as Substitute for President Roosevelt's Recommendation that Citizen Soldiers Be Retained in Service beyond One Year; Plan Is Referred to General George C. Marshall

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—A proposal that draftees, guardsmen and reservists be kept on active duty for sixteen months instead of the present twelve months was offered by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today as a substitute for President Roosevelt's recommendation of yesterday.

Mr. Roosevelt urged Congress to declare the existence of a national emergency so the citizen soldiers might be retained in service beyond a year. He did not, however, suggest a specific time limit for their tour of active duty.

Favors Definite Program

Taft said that his proposal would result in an army of 1,948,000 officers and men by next January 1. Under the plan, he added, the army would have a force of 1,272,000 trained officers and men at all times, while 676,000 always would be undergoing training.

"Maybe these boys should be kept in training," Taft told reporters, "and I can see the wisdom of the argument that we should not disorganize our army. However, there should be some definite program, and I think my plan will tend to give the forces a sense of security."

Under the plan, Taft declared, 75,000 draftees would be released each month. He said that by April 1, 1943, the system would provide a regular army of 783,000 trained officers and men; 58,000 reserve officers; 421,000 draftees with more than nine months' training; 675,000 draftees with less than nine months training and a trained reserve of 1,125,000. The trained reserve would be augmented at the rate of 75,000 monthly thereafter, Taft added.

Termed Fairer Proposal

Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the Senate Military committee referred the Taft plan to General George C. Marshall, the chief of staff, and asked that he express his views regarding it.

Senator Wheeler (D-Mont), who is backing a plan for voluntary enlistment of trainees who have ended twelve months service, said Taft's proposal "certainly would be much fairer than continuing these boys in service indefinitely.

REPORTED KILLED

General Guderian

General Guderian, above, the German army's famed "Master of Tanks" and organizer of the panzer divisions, is reported to have been killed during the fighting around Luck in Poland. Guderian received much of the credit for the swift conquests of Poland, the Lowlands and France by the German mechanized forces.

Action of Major Importance Likely In the Far East

Most Reports Hint at Japanese Drive Southward into French Indo-China

[By The Associated Press]

A flood of reports from all around the globe hinted last Tuesday night that action of major importance was about to take place in the Far East. Most reports hinted at a Japanese drive southward into French Indo-China.

Japan clamped down a strict censorship over both radio and cable communication. President Roosevelt, in telling of the move at his press conference in Washington, declined to say whether he expected any new aggressive move by Japan in the near future, but when asked whether he thought Tokyo's action significent he replied in the affirmative.

Japan and France were reported negotiating over French Indo-China, and British sources heard that the negotiations concerned Japanese demands

British Invasion Hinted

The Japanese press, which often reflects official opinion, charged that the Chinese, British and Free French forces were prepared to invade French Indo-China, and the German radio said that in the event of such an invasion "meas-

Cavalry Is Not Making Most of Its Mobility

Needs Training To Turn in Good Job in Grand Maneuvers

By RICE YAHNER

WITH THE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION IN THE DESERT, July 22 (AP)—Lieut.-Gen. Walter Krueger said today desert maneuvers showed that the cavalry is not making the most of its mobility and "a lot needs to be done" if it is to turn in a fine job with his Third Army in the grand September maneuvers in Louisiana.

The German-born soldier, who rose from a private in the United States army to a three-star general commanding a field army, spoke out emphatically at a desert critique on the second phase of the maneuvers concluded unexpectedly last night.

Problem Lasts Seventeen Hours

Yesterday's problem for 17,000 men of the First Division and Texas's own Fifty-sixth Cavalry Brigade was scheduled for twenty-four hours but lasted only seventeen when Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift, commander of the First Division, switched most of his men from horses to trucks to bring a speedy decision.

However, both he and General Krueger agreed that the cavalry—both horse-mounted and the units partly mechanized—was not moving as fast as it could.

Both officers pointed out that armored scout cars were hopelessly and needlessly bogged down after a cloudburst during the exercise; and that some horse units, normally moving at five miles an hour, traveled only three.

Britain Granted $425,000,000 Loan By United States

Will Avert Forced Sale of Securities To Meet American Debts

By IRVING PERLMEYER

WASHINGTON, July 22, (AP)—The British Government today borrowed $425,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in order to raise nearly half the $1,000,000,000 owed to American manufacturers on materials contracts made prior to the Lend-Lease program.

Jesse H. Jones, federal loan administrator, announced that the loan was made on the security of large blocks of British investments in this country, and that he believed the earnings of these investments would be enough to repay the loan in fifteen years at three per cent interest.

The loan was made under authority granted by Congress last month and Jones said it would provide "The British with dollar exchange without having to sell their securities and investments at forced sale."

He added that collateral for the loan included $205,000,000 worth of stock market securities of sixty-one United States corporatoins, $115,000,000 worth of securities of forty-six other American corporations, and $180,000,000 worth of the capital stock of forty-one American insurance companies which are owned by the British. In addition, the British asigned to the RFC the earnings of the American branches of forty-one British insurance companies.

Informed sources indicated that the British still needed about $500,000,000 to pay their debts but believed they could get it through selling gold and merchandise here.

The loan was the first obtained in this country by the British government for many years. After the British defaulted on more than $5,000,000,000 of World war debts, Congress passed the Johnson act which forbade private lenders to lend money to such defaulters.

Two Main Purposes

The Neutrality act also barred loans to England because she was a belligerent but a new law signed by President Roosevelt on June 10 authorized RFC loans when made on the security of American investments.

United States officials said the loan had two main purposes: To enable the British to "get the most money possible out of their American investments in order to be able to pay off American manufacturers on the war material orders, and to keep the British from depressing American financial markets by "dumping" the securities at sacrifice prices in order to raise cash.

Germans Say Twenty Big Fires Started In Moscow

LONDON, Wednesday, July 23 (AP)—The German radio announced today that twenty big fires were started in the district east of the Kremlin governmental headquarters during last night's Nazi attack on the Soviet capital.

These fires set in the second straight night raid were "apart from numerous direct hits in the Kremlin area," the announcer said in a broadcast heard here.

"Numerous extensive fires were observed in the bend of the Moscow river south of the Kremlin.

"These spread so rapidly and merged into such a gigantic conflagration that the whole district can be regarded as largely destroyed."

'Peoples of Good Will' Should Strive For Permanent Peace, Welles Says

Calls for Post War Group of Strong Nations To Guarantee Equality

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, said tonight that a post war association of nations, strong enough to guarantee disarmament and equal economic opportunities, was the ideal for which "peoples of good will" should strive as a foundation of permanent peace.

In an address at a cornerstone laying of a new wing of the Norwegian legation, Welles declared that free governments and peace loving people should now be preparing for "the better day" that would come with "the crushing defeat of those who are sacrificing mankind to their own lust for power and for loot."

Welles' speech constituted the most specific pronouncement yet given by a high administration official on the post war aims of the American government.

League Failed Due to Selfishness

The League of Nations, as President Wilson conceived it, Welles said, "failed in part because of the blind selfishness of men here in the British sources claim that the "V" for victory campaign now sweeping German-dominated countries has the Nazi's so worried that they're attempting to destroy its effect by displaying the "V" to designate eventual German victory. ## Nazis Use Fire-Throwers, Hand Grenades To Take Polotsk in Moscow Drive

German Soldier - Reporter Describes Two-day Battle in which Thousands Are Slaughtered

[By The Associated Press]

BERLIN, July 22—German shock troops charging forward with flame-throwers and hand grenades were reported tonight to have taken key Russian defense positions at Polotsk in the drive toward Moscow, itself battered by the first mass German air raid.

The break-through on the Northern wing of the Central front was declared to have come after a two-day battle in which tens of thousands of Russians were killed or wounded. German accounts said it permitted an infantry advance on a broad front.

The battle was reported by the official German news agency DNB as Germans heard details of the Luftwaffe assault upon the Red capital, where many fires were said to have been set and important buildings destroyed.

Bunker Smashers Used

Soldier - Reporter Lorenz Bersch wrote in the DNB account that specialists in smashing bunkers had to be called in the battle near Polotsk after Germans had been forced to retreat in their first assault on that section of the Stalin line behind the Dvina river.

The area is about 340 miles from Moscow and is north of the Smolensk sector, where the heaviest fighting had been reported previously.

"The Russians knew the importance of this bulwark for further German attempts to break through in the direction of Moscow," Bersch said.

"Never before in the Eastern campaign did the Russians defend themselves so determinedly, but never before did the fighting cost them so much blood. Their losses ran into tens of thousands."

German infantry divisions were said to have come into position Sunday night after two days of forced marching. Early Monday morning, Bersch said, thirty-nine German artillery batteries opened a withering two hours of fire to soften Russian positions. At 5 a. m., German storm troops sprang to the attack. Engineers took isolated fortifications. They were said to have worked slowly forward, cutting through hundreds of yards of barbed wire entanglements.

Fire Is Intensive

"Then a miraculous fire broke out of an intensity we did not expect," the account said. "Shelling from heavy machine-guns and small caliber cannon came from all sides through criss-crossed fields which the Russians had cut obliquely from the bunkers through the underbrush.

"Our engineers in the barbed wire entanglements were unable to advance. Salvoes from the Russian bunker cannon were devilishly well-aimed. The foremost company of reinforcing infantry hurried forward.

"The first battalion sought to turn the flank to the left but the neighboring bunker opened fire. There

Four American Red Cross Nurses And Marine Corporal Are Rescued

Picked Up after Drifting in Open Boat 12 Days; Ship Torpedoed

NORFOLK, Va., July 22 (AP) — The story of twelve days and eleven nights in an open boat in the North Atlantic after their ship, enroute to England, had been torpedoed, was told tonight by survivors landed here by a United States Navy transport.

Four were American Red Cross nurses and the fifth a Marine corporal who were picked up by an American destroyer July 5 and taken to Reykjavik, Iceland, for medical care.

Put ashore at the Norfolk Navy Yard, the group was removed to the Portsmouth Naval hospital. Naval officers said at the time they were taken aboard the destroyer they suffering from nervous exhaustion and some of gangrene.

The four nurses, members of of a party of ten who sailed as the only passengers aboard the 7,000-ton vessel from New Orleans, La., June 5, were reported safe July 9.

The nurses, listed as Marion Blissett of Detroit, Mich., Victoria Pelc of Auburn, N. Y., Rachel St. Pierre of Boston, and Lillian M. Pesnicak of Albany, N. Y., were taken in a navy ambulance to the Portsmouth Naval hospital.

The marine, Corp. E. H. MacAllister, also was removed to the hospital.

In a statement made to Capt. Clarence Gulbranson of the Navy transport, the four nurses said the torpedo attack occurred at 7:15 a. m., June 24 without warning. Two minutes after the first torpedo struck the port side another ripped into the vessel and the ship sank six to eight minutes later.

While watching the debris float by, the nurses said a submarine came to the surface, the conning tower opened and an officer, speaking perfect English, asked the name of the ship, the port from which it sailed, its cargo and destination.

After a conference among the submarine officers, the nurses said officers of the torpedoed ship rejected a proposal that the women be taken aboard the submersible and the submarine disappeared with a promise to "send a ship to pick you up."

The other six nurses were taken in other life boats, they said. At that time they estimated they were about 400 miles off the coast of Greenland.

Roosevelt Speech Arouses Anger Of German Press

Bolivian Charge D'Affairs Is Ordered To Leave Country

[By The Associated Press]

BERLIN, July 22. — President Roosevelt's message to Congress Monday and Bolivia's ouster of the German minister were coupled by authorized spokesmen and the German press today as new proof that "Roosevelt is planfully proceeding against the Axis and Europe, and in so doing is endeavoring to make South American states his stooges."

The comment was by Dienst Aus Deutschland, the authoritative commentary.

The German Government in reprisal for Bolivia's expulsion of German Minister Ernst Wendler today demanded that the Bolivian charge d'affairs in Berlin leave Germany within three days and protested sharply to the Bolivian Government over the expulsion order.

Wants to Hold Selectees

President Roosevelt's message asking Congress to hold over army conscripts and to recognize an emergency is, according to Dienst, "sharply rejected in Berlin."

"Once again," the commentary said, "the president has made a completely senseless claim of an Axis threat to the Western hemisphere. In reality it was not the Axis which sought bases in the Western hemisphere, but on the contrary the president of the United States continuously meddles in the affairs of the Eastern hemisphere and secures one base after another."

The president's message, it is stated here, caused no surprise but is merely "an addition to the list of documents on the United States' carefully planned policy of aggression."

President Roosevelt, a spokesman charged, is trying to make South America subservient by economic pressure and political threats.

Defies All Rules

"His insinuation regarding German intentions toward South America are so absurd that there is no necessity for a factual rebuttal," it was said. "He is trying to carry the war psychosis to Latin America to find colonial vassals there who will support his anti-European policies."

United States Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles also aroused the ire of German commentators because of his offer of American help to Bolivia. (Wells said Monday that the United States had promised full support to Bolivia if an international incident developed in the German case. Bolivia expelled the German minister in action designed to forestall alleged plans for a Nazi coup.)

The foreign office on demanding the departure of the Bolivian charge d'affaires, Alfredo Flores, said that the Bolivian action was "in defiance of all the rules of international intercourse."

Twenty-six Persons Hurt as Auto Runs Through Crowd

BLOOMFIELD, Ind., July 22 (AP)—Sheriff Charles Blanton said twenty-six persons were hurt, three seriously, at nearby Lyons tonight as an automobile plowed through a crowd watching an outdoor movie on Main street.

Blanton said Pete Mengedoht, 24, staying at a farm near Lyons, was the driver of the machine. He was jailed without charge pending an investigation.

About 450 persons were watching the show, sponsored by the Lyons community club.

[By The Associated Press]

MOSCOW, Wednesday, July 23—Scores of persons were killed and wounded and several houses, a hospital and a school were heavily damaged when a strong force of German bombers attacked the Soviet capital last night for the second night in succession, it was reported today.

A Soviet communique said only isolated planes of the 150 taking part broke through the city's defenses.

At least fifteen German planes were declared shot down as the Russian ground batteries lifted a terrific barrage and Soviet pursuit fighters tangled with the Germans in dogfights over the Kremlin.

No military objectives were struck, the Soviets said, and the fires in the capital were quickly extinguished by fire brigades and civilian crews.

A German-Finnish thrust close to the Leningrad-Murmansk railroad was indicated by the Red Army today in a communique declaring the German-Russian front was essentially unchanged and proclaiming a successful defense of Moscow against the first Luftwaffe raid on the Soviet capital.

The communique reported "heavy fighting" in the direction of Petrozavodsk, a town which lies 250 miles above Leningrad on the important rail line to Murmansk, Russia's ice-free Arctic port. The town is Northeast of Lake Ladoga and 140 miles inside Russia's frontier with Finland.

There was heavy fighting also, the communique said, in the Porkhov, Smolensk and Zhitomir regions—the areas of bitter battles for days against German forces driving respectively in the directions of Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev.

Moscow emerged relatively un-

Post-War Ideals Of United States Given by Welles

Seen as Attempt To Drive Wedge between Hitler, German People

By J. C. STARK

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—In an apparent attempt to drive a wedge between Adolf Hitler and the German people and to encourage eventual revolt in Nazi-conquered countries, the United States tonight proclaimed its post-war aims in the most definite terms yet.

Emphasizing that there could be "no peace until the Hitlerite government of Germany has been finally and utterly destroyed," Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, plainly addressed his words on the post-war world to the people of Nazi-controlled countries.

Millions, he said, were asking what the future held after this struggle — millions in England, in China, "Millions of enslaved peoples in Norway and in the other countries now temporarily occupied, millions in the countries which have not experienced war; yes, and millions in Germany and Italy."

Describes "Great Ideal"

He then outlined the kind of world for which the United States stood—apparently a definite offer by this country to use its influence in

Japanese Radio Censorship Causes Speculation over Next Move in Asia

Tokyo Believed To Have Demanded Concessions in Indo-China

By RICHARD L. TURNER

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—President Roosevelt went out of his way today to announce that a radio and cable censorship had been imposed in Japan, and his action in conjunction with reports from other capitals prompted speculation as to whether the big Japanese push to the south was about to begin.

From Vichy in unoccupied France, came reports that negotiations on French Indo-China were in progress with the Tokyo government, inducing a general belief that the latter had presented sweeping demands for economic and military concessions.

At the same time, the Paris newspaper Les Nouveaux, spokesman for supporters of French collaboration with Germany, urged that France work with Japan for the protection of Indo-China, lest France lose that territory altogether.

In Tokyo the newspapers started a furore over Indo-China and Thailand (Siam) and the Dutch East Indies as well. They charged that British, Free French and Chinese

Aluminum Drive Gets under Way In Maryland

George Predicts Collections of Scrap Metal Will Pass Expectations

[By The Associated Press]

Hundreds of pounds of aluminum were poured into bins throughout Maryland yesterday as the state began to contribute its share to the national goal of 20,000,000 pounds of the scrap metal for defense purposes.

Although the intensive, house-to-house canvass was not slated to start in most communities until tomorrow morning, early donations at public receptacles were numerous, and Isaac S. George, executive secretary of the State Council of Defense, predicted collections would pass expectations.

George last night addressed a public meeting of collection campaign workers held at Snow Hill, the last of a similar series throughout the state.

In a general appeal, he urged citizens to contribute all kinds of old aluminum items.

"Remember that it all aluminum that is desirable," he said, "not merely pots and pans of housewives, but everything from a thimble to a chair or something larger if it contains aluminum.

"Industrial plants, business houses, hotels, restaurants and even penal institutions should contribute."

In Baltimore, meanwhile, plans were completed for the "block party" to be held in the Court House plaza tomorrow night, with dancing in the streets.

Hague and Edison Split as Governor Wins in Assembly

New Jersey Chief Executive Wins First Challenge of Mayor

TRENTON, N. J., July 22 (AP)—Democratic leadership in New Jersey split open today, seven weeks before the primary election, as Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, for years the state leader, and Chares Edison, newly risen to power as governor, engaged in a verbal slugfest.

The issue which brought the Democratic National Vice Chairman Hague, and the former Navy Secretary, Edison, into wide-open conflict was passage by the legislature after a nineteen-hour battle of four bills to compromise $52,000,000 in delinquent railroad taxes and penalties.

Mayor Hague had made the measures the target of one of the most vitriolic attacks in his often stormy career. With Governor Edison's blessing, however, they squeaked through the general assembly with two votes to spare after an all-night session and then through the Senate with one vote more than a bare majority.

The bills would have passed neither Republican-controlled House except for five Democrats who defied Hague to follow Edison.

Hardly had the lawmakers reached their beds when the mayor issued from his Jersey City office a statement echoing the charge made on the assembly floor by Assemblyman Peter P. Artaserse, leader of the Hague delegation from Hudson county, that Edison had bartered a judgeship to get the needed Democratic votes; decrying the outcome as "the most disgraceful betrayal of the people that has occurred in the history of New Jersey," and warning, "this is only the beginning."

Hague said he would ask the electorate next November to choose lawmakers pledged to repeal the bills and investigate every legislator who voted for "this sellout." An entire assembly and a third of the Senate will be elected in November.

Edison in a reply charged that Hague sought his political ruin because the governor, by a nonpolitical appointment to the supreme court, made "public proclamation that Hague was no longer free to carry on his attempts to exert control over the high courts of New Jersey."

The possibility that Edison might carry the fight to Hague in the September 9 primary was seen in his criticism of Hague's opposition as "a propaganda campaign of the type the Nazis have made loathesome."

JURY INDICTS FIVE ON NARCOTIC CHARGES

BALTIMORE, July 22. (AP)—Four men and a woman arrested last June 26 in simultaneous narcotic raids in Baltimore, New York and Washington were indicted by a federal grand jury today on narcotic and conspiracy charges.

Police said at the time of the arrests the raids were conducted in an effort to break up an extensive ring of dope peddlers along the Atlantic seaboard. Quantities of narcotics were seized.

One indictment accused Julius Eisenberg of Washington of selling about 250 grains of illegallly imported heroin hydrochloride on specific dates between May 16 and June 26.

George Presto, Louis Presto ad Margaret P. Lovejoy all arrested in New York, were accused of conspiring to sell the drug. In other counts, George Presto was accused of selling about 181 grains of the heroin since last March 14 and Louis Presto and Margaret Lovejoy of aiding and abetting him in the sales.

George Presto also was indicted on charges of selling about 462 grains of the drug between last April 5 and June 26 and Louis Presto of aiding and abetting him in the sales.

A fourth indictment charged Kenneth V. Woolridge with selling the drug in Baltimore. Bernard J. Flynn, United States Attorney for Maryland, said Woolridge was arrested in Alabama.

McCANN IS CONVICTED OF MAIL FRAUD

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Gene McCann, Wall street's No. 1 litigant who once lost a $45,000,000 suit against the New York Stock Exchange and more than 600 bankers and brokers whom he charged with restraint of trade, was convicted today of mail fraud.

He was sentenced immediately to six years' imprisonment and fined $600 by Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis of Kansas City, Mo., who heard the case without a jury while on a temporary assignment here.

His own lawyer during the trial, the 46-year-old McCann sought in vain to call as witnesses the members of the grand jury which indicted him, Postmaster General Frank Walker, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy, Financier Thomas W. Lamont and members of the federal district attorney's office.

When the trial started, McCann said he would show through testimony of sixty-two notables "that this whole case against me is a gigantic conspiracy to deprive me of my rights to sue civilly."

McCann was charged with using the mails to defraud in preparing stock prospectuses for filing with the Securities and Exchange commission.

INTERPRETING THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Four days of what seems destined to be the greatest and bloodiest battle in history furnish only one clear clue to what is actually happening along the vast German-Russian front. That is the fact that the Nazi advance has slowed to a snail's pace.

For the fourth day in succession Hitler's headquarters could point to no new breach in the Stalin line, no new strategic river crossing or rail-and-road junction captured to justify its assertion that Soviet frontier defenses had been torn apart and the Red army isolated into "disconnected groups."

No Important Change

In effect, the German reports confirm Moscow's statement that there has been no important strategic change in the battle areas since the Nazis pushed forward to the Smolensk region. Nor need Moscow rely on its own reports alone to substantiate its boasts that Red forces have engaged in bitter defensive fighting and even delivered return blows.

Hitler's headquarters admits that the Russians are continuing their "stout local resistance and stubbornly conducted counter attacks." It dismisses these, however, as incapable of long delaying "operations aimed at the crushing and destruction of individual groups of Soviet armed forces."

There is an element of conflict within that German battle report which tends to confirm the impression that the Nazis have encountered serious snags at Smolensk and before Kiev. Except for the Smolensk bulge, neither Leningrad in the North, Moscow in the North-center nor Kiev in the South-center sector seems in greater danger than it was a week or more ago when the second Nazi attack was launched.

Most Serious Threat

The Smolensk dent, the most serious threat to the Central Russian defense system, has remained static since it was created.

London military spokesmen noted that the German attack in the Kiev sector is tending Southward. They described it as heading down the right or West bank of the Dnieper and possibly endangering Russian forces retiring from Bessarabia behind Dniester.

Just where this Southward Nazi swing West of the Nnieper is developing is not clear. However, a German break-through on the Kiev front to reach the Dnieper at that city or any point South of it would be even more serious for the Russians than complete Nazi investment of Smolensk, which the Reds still claim to hold.

It may be that the Nazis have changed their strategy to attain victory in the area. The frontal assault toward Kiev from Novograd-Volynsk may be abandoned in favor of a sweep Southward between the Dnieper and Dniester that could force Russian withdrawal in haste from all the Southern Ukraine behind the Dnieper.

Effects of

harmed from Monday night's five and one-half-hour raid by 200 planes and Joseph Stalin himself in a special order of the day praised the people of the capital for their work against the raiders.

As people's commissar for defense, Stalin lauded the "fine work" by night fighters and the ground defenses and also paid tribute to the fire fighting services and the militia who were busy throughout the long attack.

Stalin disclosed that twenty-two Nazi planes were shot down during the dusk-to-dawn raid. The German craft beat at the capital with both explosive and fire bombs in an effort to burn it out, but daylight showed that despite the fury of the assault it was relatively harmless.

Today's post - midnight communique said that the German losses "must be considered very great under the conditions of the night raid."

"Scattered and demoralized by our night fighters and our antiaircraft guns," said the statement, "the German planes dropped most of their bombs on woods and fields outside Moscow.

Military Objectives Unscathed

"Not a single military objective was touched nor was any damage done to municipal enterprises."

A big bomb crater in Mokovaya street in front of the United States Embassy was the only sign of damage in the center of the city. The Kremlin and other public centers were not touched. Many buildings were in fact hit, but apparently all were private dwellings.

Civilian fire defense operated in relays throughout the night, endlessly throwing incendiary bombs off the rooftops and extinguishing fires as they sprang up. Throughout the raid, the telephone functioned and contact between one defense headquarters and another was never broken.

At the end of the attack this morning the city came to life as though it were noon.

As to the situation afield, the Soviet command's day communique pictured the heaviest action in long familiar areas—the Polotsk-Nevel-Smolensk salient before Moscow, and in the Novograd Volynski sector fronting Kiev in the Ukraine.

Violent Attacks Resumed

The resumption of violent German attacks about Pskov in the drive on Leningrad—which had not been mentioned in Monday's official Soviet accounts—was reported without detail.

While brief official Russian reports indicated during the day that the German offensives still were finding heavy going in generally static battle areas, informed British sources said in London that a German thrust down the West bank of the Dnieper river from the Kiev front "might put the Russians in a difficult position in Bessarabia."

There was a possibility, it was added, that this movement might move fast and far enough to confront the Red troops with the danger of being cut off.

Ickes Acts in Effort To Prevent Long Oil Shortage in East

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Acting to prevent the possibility of a long oil shortage in the east, Secretary of the Interior Ickes recommended to the petroleum industry today that it build immediately a $70,000,000 pipe line system and construct fifty large high-speed oil tankers.

The line which would have a daily capacity of 250,000 barrels, would funnel crude oil from the East Texas and Mid-Continent fields to refineries in the Philadelphia-New York areas. Officials said it would be the largest pipe line system in the world.

The secretary, who is defense petroleum co-ordinator, said representatives of large oil companies had expressed a willingness to construct the system jointly.

Ickes' action followed final congressional approval of legislation authorizing construction of interstate pipe lines. The measure authorizes public or private companies to maintain rights-of-way by condemnation proceedings. It provides also that the lines can be constructed by the government or through government loans to private firms.

In addition to recommending crude oil lines and tankers, the co-ordinator urged the industry to give further consideration at once "to the question of constructing a petroleum products line from the gulf to the Atlantic Seaboard." Such a line would carry refined gasoline and possibly fuel oil.

Deportation Warrants Are Served on Czech Employees of Bat'a

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP) — A. R. Archibald, district commissioner of naturalization and immigration, said serving of deportation warrants on forty-seven Czech employes of the Bat'a Shoe Company at Belcamp, Md., was continuing as fast as possible.

Archibald said the office was being lenient in granting extension time on the warrants, which follow up an order issued ten months ago, because an attorney designated as counsel for many of those involved was ill and unable to appear at the individual hearings which must be given each worker.

None of the workers, he added, had been held.

Company officials asserted the firm was not related to Bat'a concerns in South America blacklisted by the United States on suspicion they are connected with the Nazi economic machine.

In September, 1940, the attorney general ordered fifty-nine of the Belcamp workers to leave the country within a reasonable period or be deported. One-year entry permits for seventy-eight of the Czechs to enter the country expired June 7, 1940. Some of the workers reportedly have left the country since the permits expired.

Bottling Company Makes Gun Mounts

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP) —The Philadelphia Ordnance Depot today received the first commercially-produced gun mounts for the army's .50 caliber anti-aircraft gun, turned out by a Baltimore bottling machinery manufacturer.

Captain Albert S. Branson, United States Ordnance officer, said the mounts produced by the Crown Cork and Seal Company had met all specifications, and that mass shipments were expected to start in about two weeks.

Captain Branson said that prior to the start of production by the bottling machinery firm, the stationary tripod mounts had been turned out only at the government's Rock Island Arsenal.

D. B. Stone, general manager of the crown plant, said that a $5,000,000 backlog orders for the gun mounts was on hand. The firm's third and largest order, totaling $2,713,926, was announced by the War department yesterday.

The first order, for $1,500,000, was received in November, 1940, and the second for more than $700,000 last Friday.

Stone said the Crown company had curtailed somewhat its commercial production of bottling machinery, and had added about 75,000 square feet of floor space, devoted entirely to the manufacture of gun mounts.

Hundreds of mechanics are working in two ten-hour shifts, six days, a week, he said, with about half of them engaged exclusively on government contracts.

Stone said the precision machinery used in his firm's ordinary business was easily adaptable to the production of gun mounts, including even the delicate sighting mechanism.

ARMY OFFICERS GET "GASSED" AT MEADE

FORT GEORGE G. MEADE, Md., July 22 (AP)—Maj.-Gen. Milton A. Reckord and his Twenty-ninth division staff went through the gas chamber today.

They attended a demonstration by the division's chemical warfare section which included examples of field decontamination methods, gas mask instruction and identification of gases by smell.

After being shown the correct way to put on and test their gas masks, the commanding general staff officers entered a field chamber filled with tear gas. They came out after several minutes and their masks were examined to see that they were working properly.

The officers went inside again and each one under supervision removed his mask to contrast the effect of the gas upon unprotected persons and those with properly fitting masks.

Following this, mixtures of various gases were released so the officers could learn to identify them by smell.

Major Stanley E. Hartman, divisional chemical warfare officer, was in charge of the demonstration. He was assisted by Capt. Thomas W. O'Byrne and Lt. Levin Cottingham.

A Successful Formula For Industrial Peace

THE INDUSTRIAL PEACE FORMULA championed by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States on the basis of the successful experiment at Toledo, O., has been suggested by its exponents as a nation-wide solution of employer-employe disputes.

Certainly the operation of the plan at Toledo commends itself for adoption in other communities. In fact, it has been watched by business men here in Cumberland, as well as in other places, and its utilization here has been under consideration.

The plan embodies the appointment of strike moratorium committees comprising representatives of the public, labor and management for the voluntary mediation of industrial conflicts.

The successful manner in which it has been employed at Toledo has been described in a broadcast over a national radio network by Albert W. Hawkes, president of the general commerce chamber; Mayor John Q. Carey, of Toledo, and Edmund Riffin, director of the Toledo Industrial Peace Board, now a part of the city government there.

Nation-wide support of the plan, according to Hawkes, would advance the nation toward a solution of "the entire problem of industrial conflict."

Mayor Carey said a peace board could succeed anywhere if the community backed it. The Toledo board of five labor, five industrial and eight public representatives, he said, had saved manhours of production and wages earned to the extent of many millions of dollars.

Riffin said the board since its adoption six years ago had settled 181 disputes without work stoppage by any of the 36,244 employes involved, and had helped to settle fifty-two lesser strikes involving 6,090 employes. Not a single strike has occurred in Toledo's many defense industries, he said.

It seems quite worth whole.

A Bureau Talks Like a Bureau

OFFICIALS of the WPA setup are planning on an unemployment total of 5,000,000 for 1942. This despite the fact that the mills are humming, production is up everywhere and workers are being drawn into industry generally. Sharp decline of the CCC boys is an instance in point.

But Corrigan Gill, assistant WPA commissioner, contends that most of the defense workers have been drained from non-defense industries and have not been replaced, wherefore there is no resultant increase in general unemployment.

While many farsighted leaders are looking forward to an unemployment problem when the armament program is completed and have been canvassing various backlogs for it, none has been anticipating a dearth of unemployment possibilities for some time to come.

Perhaps, as one observer notes, the reason for the estimates of the WPA fellows is that it is a bureau living on unemployment. Hence the warnings that an unemployment problem is just around the corner is most likely the selfish plea of bureaucrats whose right to draw pay from the federal treasury is rapidly fading.

Another War Poll Has Same Result

AS a good deal of the clamor for going to war has appeared in New York newspapers, indicating a large sentiment there in behalf of an offensive national defense, the poll on the subject just completed by the New York Daily News is of more than passing interest.

The Daily News poll posited the question, without qualifications, "Shall the United States enter the war to help Britain defeat Hitler?"

Voting in the negative were 122,802, or seventy and one-half per cent; in the affirmative, 51,507, or twenty-nine and one-half per cent.

The poll covered the whole state, including the greater city of New York. The voting both upstate and in the metropolitan area was virtually in the same ratio, (a two-percent increase in the affirmative for the city) although in Manhattan the affirmative vote was higher—36.7 per cent—but in Queens borough the opposition rose to 81.8 per cent, and in Staten Island even higher—82.9 per cent.

If polls amount to anything, it would appear that the people of New York state as a whole are definitely opposed to a shooting alliance against the Nazis. Other polls, it may be noted, have indicated a similar trend in other states and throughout the country, notably back in the hinterland.

The One-Handed Car Driver

ATTENTION is appropriately given in a bulletin issued by the Keystone Automobile Club to the one-handed automobile drivers. These are not the unfortunates who have been deprived of one hand or arm, but the two-handed drivers who fall into the habit of driving with only one hand and using the other for something else. Sometimes they "cool" their left hands and arms by gripping the roof or dangling them from the windows of the moving vehicles.

Safety experts of the club admit that the strain of driving is eased by change of posture and occasional reprieve of the left hand from driving duties, and say that it is competent to do so. But they warn that it involves a danger, which should be duly heeded.

"Operation of an automobile is a serious business," says Edward P. Curran, Keystone safety director. "While steering under normal conditions is an easy task, one never knows when an emergency may arise requiring all the skill of an operator to avoid accident.

"Obviously, the driver using only one hand is at a disadvantage under emergency conditions. The more skillful he is the better he can meet the situation, but the fraction of a second required to get both hands into action may be the difference between safety and injury."

Another fault found with the practice is that protruding arms are confusing to other drivers who think some kind of turning or stopping signal is intended. With the great variety of "signals" used by motorists of this state, it is not surprising that any movement of the left arm is construed as an attempt to inform drivers following of an intended change in course.

"Pointing" is still another bad habit, the club official declared. When trying to show passengers something interesting on the left side of the road, drivers will be conferring a favor on fellow motorists by doing their pointing inside the car, instead of extending the arm outside in a signaling movement, he said.

These suggestions, made in the interest of safety on the highways, are worth heeding on the part of all motorists.

Missing the More Important Point

THOUSANDS of automobile factory workers will be thrown out of jobs if Leon Henderson's proposed fifty per cent reduction in automobile manufacture is carried out, according to R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers, a CIO affiliate. In consequence, he sees a serious dislocation of the national industrial economy.

Since the automobile plants have some two billion dollars' worth of defense orders on hand and the purpose of the proposed cut in automobiles is merely to shift production from one class of output to another, it is difficult to see just where all this great unemployment is to occur in this industry. Thomas's fears, accordingly, seem without foundation.

The really serious phase of this proposed reduction in automobiles is not the possibility of joblessness, but the effect upon civilian supply, which many believe has not been given the consideration it warrants. In order to bolster the defense production program it is highly essential that civilian needs be satisfied at least to a reasonable extent. From that angle it may be questioned whether a fifty per cent reduction is justifiable at one jump. It might be better to achieve it on a sliding scale as retooling would suggest.

A Priority Ruling Justly Based

THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS out at St. Louis has ruled that Roy Eubank's injury claim against the bankrupt Fort Smith and Western railroad must have priority over commercial claims against the road after, of course, taxes and court costs.

Eubanks was injured in 1936 while working as a brakeman for the road at Bokoshe, Okla., and sued the road, winning a judgment for $18,000, part of which was paid. The properties of the bankrupt railroad were sold in 1939, but liabilities exceeded assets and Eubank's claim was placed last on the list.

"The unsatisfied claim of appellant Eubanks for personal injuries touches our equitable conscience with a stronger natural and social appeal than the commercial risk claims of joint facilities agreements, car repair bills and kindred items," the court stated in its opinion.

The conclusion appears quite reasonable and just in the circumstances. Eubanks lost both legs in the accident.

A dispatch from Tokyo says the Japanese are baffled, indicating a similarity between the Oriental and Occidental in one respect.

Now that English women are to be taught carpentry, banged, instead of tinted, fingernails probably will become the fashion.

A Word for Gossip

By MARSHALL MASLIN

So you haven't been behaving exactly as you should, huh? You've been breaking some of the long-established rules of behavior? . . . And when you walk down the street of your home town your old acquaintances and friends say how-do-you-do nice as you please but you can feel them turning their heads to stare a bit after you've passed. . . . And you grit your teeth and say something grim and contemptuous about "gossips." You know they've been spreading the word about you, mentioning your name on street corners, in rocking chairs all around the town. . . . And how you do despise gossip, that great winged creature with a thousand tongues!

Marshall Maslin

I don't blame you. So do I. . . . Particularly when the gossip is about me. . . . I've done a bit of gossiping in my time, and I'm not altogether proud of it. And so, perhaps, have you. And yet there IS something to be said for it.

But listen! I'm not speaking of mean, invented, malicious, lying gossip—that spontaneous combustion of wickedness that begins as a curling wisp of smoke and becomes a roaring flame in which reputation is destroyed. Very little gossip is of that sort, actually. Most of it is no more than a vivid curiosity and interest in the people we know, hardly high-minded to be sure, but friendly enough. . . . And some gossip actually performs a rueful service in the world.

Ed Howe, the Sage of Potato Hill who died about three years ago, frequently said that the tongues of his neighbors did more to keep him decent than any other agency on earth. And I once read, in Dorothea Brande's "My Invincible Aunt," of an old gentleman out of Maine who told his young niece a few truths about gossip. He said to her, right out:

> "You hear so much about gossip, how it's a bad thing. Well now, I want to tell you I'm by no means sure it is. Gossip's what your own say about you when you get going too strong. Does you a lot of good to know you got to mind what you're doing or hear from others that you've looked like a fool!"

There's much in what that old fellow said, and don't you be thinking differently. It's not the whole story, by any means, because irresponsible gossip CAN and DOES do great harm to innocent folk—but there are times when it makes us do what we know is best for us. And that's not such a bad thing, is it?

Worry Is Caused Over the Threat Of Falangism

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

State departmental whisperings hint at considerable wondering if Spanish Falangism isn't more of a threat against unity between the United States and Latin America than either German Naziism or Italian Fascism.

Caudillo Franco

The Falangists (Falange Espanol), Spanishly corresponding to the Nazi and Fascist parties in Germany and Italy, are a much more recent setup, under Caudillo Franco's leadership, than Fuehrer Hitler's or Duce Mussolini's groups, and weren't recognized in Washington, until the Axis-Russian war started, as a possibly very disturbing influence in opposition to Pan-American solidarity on the side of the rest of the world's democracies versus totalitarianism. Now it's beginning to be suspected that it's an influence to be seriously reckoned with.

Violently Anti-Catholic

As has been noted before, the so-called republic, with a pretty strong Communistic tinge, which preceded Caudillo Franco's present Falangist regime in Spain, was violently anti-Catholic. Consequently, when Franco and his Falangist followers launched their campaign to overthdow republicanism, it naturally had a powerful appeal to Spanish Catholicism, which still was strong.

The republicans put up a stiff fight and might have won but for the help Franco received from Germany and Italy. Herr Hitler certainly and Signor Mussolini probably cared nothing for Franco on religious grounds, but they evidently assessed him as a prospective dictator they could manage to their own advantage. Commissar Stalin, though, preferred the republicans, presumably because of their Communistic leanings, and aided them all he could.

Well, Franco and his Falangist alignment triumphed. I don't say that the Spanish Catholics benefitted politically by being totalitarianized, but it's undeniable that Franco doesn't oppress their church and the so-called republicans did.

o

Hitler's Version

Now the Axis starts battering at Russia. Herr Hitler proclaims it as a "holy war" against pagan Communism. It's the bunk, of course. No doubt Communism IS pagan, but that isn't why Adolf went to war with it.

Yet, consider the understandable cerebration of a Spanish Catholic Falangist. He's a Falangist, not necessarily because he's inherently Falangistic, but because his church was being persecuted and Falangism put a stop to it. In all likelihood it did so to gain Spanish Catholic support, not because Caudillo Franco has much religion in his own system, but it did it, anyway. And the Russian Communists tried to aid the church's persecutors to stay in power. The Axis, on the opposite hand, helped to lick 'em.

As between the Axis and the Russians, at war today, which one is such a chap mighty certain to sympathize with? And what kind of a hit does it make with him to have Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt come out for Russia, even on an only temporary, emergency basis?

o

Against Everything

Well, all accounts from Spain are to the effect that Falangism is 100 per cent anti-everything-and-everybody who's pro-Russian, regardless of the temporariness of it.

Furthermore, our diplomats in Latin America report that Spanish Falangist agents are being rushed by the boatload into that part of the world to do missionary work. Chances are that they're being financed from Berlin. Spain couldn't afford it. A Spanish Falangist is a darned sight better propagandist there than a German or an Italian. Germany and Italy have sizable Latin American colonies, but they're nothing to compare with the Spanishness of those republics. That isn't true of Brazil, which is Portuguese, but Brazil's largely Catholic, and that item also enters into the equation.

o

Uncle Sam Worried

It's too soon for the state department to have sized up the prospect very fully, but it's obviously worried.

Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla of Mexico made a speech the other day in which he said exactly what the department would have him say if it had written it for him itself. His version was that the democracies' indorsement of Russia is only for just now, that it doesn't imply the slightest sympathy with "pagan Communism."

But how effective Minister Padilla's talk will be, in competition with an army of Falangists' chatter, the department isn't sure yet.

IN CARIBBEAN POST

Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews

Assignment of Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, 57, of the army air force, to the post of chief of the Caribbean defense command was announced in Washington. The move was in line with the recently enunciated policy of placing airmen in charge of all forces, land and air, in areas where aviation is deemed the primary defense weapon.

Maryland Farm Musings

By the Extension Service of the University of Maryland

A survey of 147 Maryland turkey farms in 1931-32 showed an average mortality of 31% for the year, says a bulletin on "Producing and Marketing Turkeys," issued recently by the University of Maryland extension service. While the present losses may be somewhat less, it states, it is doubtful if the average mortality of turkeys in the eastern states is less than 25%. These losses, it asserts, must be substantially reduced if turkey growing is to compete successfully with other branches of animal husbandry.

Twenty registered Holsteins owned by the University of Maryland, College Park, produced enough milk during the past test-year to provide 82 families of four with four quarts daily for the entire year. The average production per cow was 471.9 pounds butterfat from 12,892 pounds of milk. The average cow in the herd produced 2½ times as much butterfat as the country's average dairy cow.

Cereals and grass seeds go through an "after-ripening" process after threshing and until this process is completed their germination is lower than it will be some weeks later, according to F. S. Holmes, chief of the Maryland Seed Testing Laboratory. In making laboratory tests, he says, such seeds must be subjected to special treatments that overcome this condition.

Designed to give turkey growers of Maryland helpful information in both production and marketing of their birds, the University of Maryland extension service has just issued a new bulletin under the title "Producing and Marketing Turkeys." The authors are Wade H. Rice, Herbert R. Bird and James M. Gwin, of the poultry husbandry department.

Maryland's winter wheat crop is turning out better than expected with a yield per acre nearly up to average and only a half-bushel less than last year.

SWELLING HAS ALREADY SET IN

Gen. Johnson Says Neglect of Civilian Supply Is Threatening Small Business

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON, July 22.—In addition to crushing taxes, probably higher inflated prices and shortages in many services and supplies, under present trends, the American people are threatened with another kind of unshirted hell about which there has not been much discussion. The wholesale diversion of too much material from civilian to military use with no regard to some sort of just balance between them threatens to cripple if not to ruin the institution of "small business" in this country.

Hugh S. Johnson

I mean the small independent merchants of all kinds of goods and even some larger ones, the hundreds of thousands of small manufacturers of all sorts of supplies, small service and repair operators and the millions of people employed by them. I do not refer to the effect of rapidly increasing taxes on everything or even to the rapid inflationary tendency of prices—hope for control of which seems to be fading. I mean the threatened sheer inability of these "little fellows" to get transportation, power and, above all, raw and finished material with which to conduct their business and necessary services to the public.

Not in Fashion

It is the fashion to decry any reference to this short-sighted sloganeering for "business as usual." People who do this are frequently so exalted with war enthusiasm, not to say hysteria, that they can't take time off even to look at this side of the problem and consequently rarely know much about it. There can be no business as usual but there should be extreme care to preserve our economic systems.

The British understand this. Says Sir Kenneth Lee, representing the British Industrial and Export council: "You may be sure our nation is not going to put out of business the smaller firms if they can help it." No responsible high authority on this side of the Atlantic has as yet expressed such a policy. In the maze and labyrinth of conflicting committees and officials conducting our war effort, I know of none who is giving this angle prime consideration. True, Mr. Henderson, in OPACS, is charged with "civilian supply," but he seems to regard that "CS" at the end of OPACS as meaning civilian sacrifice and not civilian supply.

Fine-Broth Brewing

We can't go too far in this direction. We seem to be brewing a fine broth of popular discontents—soldiers and their families, because, while they are being asked to sacrifice in many directions, no curbs are being applied to labor, prices and profits. Farmers are sore because the plans and promises to produce "parity prices" are not precisely working out. An even hotter and, in some cases, more justified resentment will be created if one of the props of American economic life—the wide-spread institution of "little business"—begins to fold up, and there is no evidence of administrative concern to prevent it.

It is usually said: "Oh these people can get war work." That is tommy-rot. The very essential character of this vast war production effort throws it automatically into the great industrial corporations, concentrates it in a few already congested industrial areas and so, unintentionally and perhaps unavoidably, vastly increases monopolistic tendencies and, if something is not done to control it, will do more to wipe out small individual enterprise and the continuation of competition than anything that ever happened in this country.

Farming Out Is Small

Commendably the great corporations are doing what they can to "farm out" in sub-contracts as much of this work as possible. But the field in which this can be done is pitifully small. It can't touch the bulk of the great area of merchandising and distribution at all.

As this tendency proceeds, if not checked, it will begin to bear with hardships, which will be believed by them to be unnecessary, on the whole civilian population. Neglect of civilian morale is no way to win a war. Revolution in our economic system is no way to survive a war.

Defense Chief Does His Work In Simple Way

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, July 22—The bi front man of defense, Mr. Knudsen, is doing well at his job, but h has one fault. He is not an executive and does not like desk work. He works in mysterious ways. No one really knows what he is doing half the time because he does not have the Washington habit of calling great meetings and having interminable discussions about everything. An example:

Wm. S. Knudsen

The OPM tank expert was walking down the hall one way, thinking about nothing in particular. He met Knudsen. Knudsen said: "How is the tanks coming?" The tank man said, "not so well." Knudsen said: "Cut all de aluminum out of de tanks." (That's the way he really talks). Except: "Yes, sir," which he said. Knudsen went on and on and that was all the tank man ever heard. He rushed back to his office and called a meeting and gave the necessary orders.

o

Already Decided

As you know, the ordinary Washington official would have had to all innumerable meetings and have dless discussions and then would ue written orders, etc., etc. Apparently Knudsen had thought the tter through alone, made his de- on, and when he saw the tank rt, merely told him. Knudsen the OPM just as he used to his shop when he was a shop fan.

Knudsen has a great appeal bec e his Danish accent and his sim ty of language. When he read speech it is not so good, but n he talks extemporaneously is very effective. In a speech in Bo recently he was talking about chine tools. He said that New E nd was the cradle of the machin ol industry because the man w nvented the steel gauge was a v Englander. Knudsen described e gauge by saying, "A gauge is nething you put on a piece of s to see if it is just like another p of stuff." A columnist couldn't put it more accurately.

The exan of the tank may be typical of Knudsen works but no one know cause Knudsen does everything i e most simple and direct way a nly the people directly concer find out about it. He is apt to up a phone, call the president c big company long distance, and t him to farm out some of his d ce contracts to sub-contractors. never occurs to him that these gs are of major importance.

Possesses Stamina

He has wonderf tamina, may get up at 5 a. m., g n a plane, go to Texas, make a s , get on another plane, come and go to work. He has man ht conferences and meetings his associates—Diggers, Patter Forrestal, Henderson, et al. He a ets around to parties, stayed up a ight until 6 a. m. dancing with na Durbin, among other thin e night of the president's bir y, then went to work at 9 a. m.

Lacking any real au ty, he nevertheless gets things ne by doing them the simple d way. There is some resentmen mong his friends because they t one of his associates is movin on him and taking advantage his simple methods. That su is probably controversial. No ubt it interests him less than ne else in his organization.

Knudsen will never resign e is not the resigning kind. No ter what the difficulties, or an ances, he considers that he signed with the president "for duration" and any release from t signature will not be at his requ

o

Post-War Steps

On the subject of warding off post defense crash—whoever sell cooling systems to the churches wil certainly avoid the depression that is supposed to come after this defense effort.

Many more steps can be taken by the government to thaw the frozen pessimism of business. Two more suggested by Meyer Jacobstein of Brookings are:

1. The army school immeditely start canvassing the qualifications of every draftee as to articular commercial skills, orking experiment, etc. After is term of service the War department should use this information to set up an employment agucy to which business can go for skilled help.

2. The government should mak a complete study of peacetime world trade prospects for the st-war period, figuring how is country can prepare to fill ese needs.

There e thousands of things to be done and now is the time to start.

It Was Her First Time in Print, so You Could Hardly Blame Miss Newton. And It Was Her First Effort as a Crusader

By ALBERTA DEAN

Miss Newton went to visit her four nephews at defense camp for one reason. To be able to talk about it when she returned.

Being unmarried, Miss Newton didn't have much in common with the matrons of her age, and gradually they had dropped her from their club circles. It had been all of 10 years since her name had been in the paper.

On the day of her return from her visit at camp, her first impulse was to telephone the newspaper. But she cast the thought aside, knowing that she would get a paragraph at the most. Then she thought of the pep rally that Greenville would stage tonight. It was to be in conjunction with the national drive for funds to maintain the proposed Army-Navy recreation centers.

"It's not every girl who can make such a boast."

She held tightly to the receiver, then opened her little-bird eyes at what she was saying. "You want some startling facts? Something that would persuade people to donate to the cause? Hmmmmmm." The way she trembled, you knew she wasn't going to muff this chance. Even if she had to stretch a point. She rolled her eyes and talked into the mouthpiece.

"Well, my dear friend, I do have some actual statistics on the prevalence of vice in the camp area. Perfectly astounding facts!" While she waited for his reaction, a faint smile of triumph cracked her thin lips. And she relaxed when Mr. Williams said yes.

Her first fright, under the dazzle of the lights in the town hall, was when she spotted Mary Murphy, reporter. Sure, she would be there. Smart creature, with her lovely slim legs and expensive soft cream wool sports clothes. Just a young clothes horse, in Miss Newton's opinion, was Mary Murphy, feature writer. Just a grinning girl who went everywhere, saw everything, and wrote about it.

And a small inner voice told Miss Newton, "Anything you say will be written—by Mary Murphy."

Nevertheless, here she was, the mousy Miss Newton on the speakers' platform with all the city officials and civic leaders. She smiled coldly at club women down below. Those women, poor things, scrambled every day to be photographed pouring tea or giving talks on stupid reform movements. Tonight, just tonight, they would look up to her. The cameraman's bulb flashed. Her face would be seen in the paper tomorrow. She would be making local history.

When Mr. Williams spoke her name she preened her bony frame and stalked her respectable self to the center of the stage. The loudspeaker gave her courage. She felt that she was talking to it alone. She started to speak of the things the boys would like to have. Things like chocolate cake and books and a place away from camp to sit around and play cards, and once in a while to dance with girls.

Mr. Williams interrupted her almost impatiently. "The government has already mentioned those needs to the public, countless times, Miss Newton. What we want to emphasize is the urgency of those needs, so that our volunteer workers here tonight can present some real arguments in their house-to-house canvass.

"But——"

"Isn't it true, Miss Newton, that you have seen with your own eyes the deplorable vice conditions existing near the camp you just visited?"

She threw aside her inhibitions. "Yes, Mr. Williams. It was dreadful. For miles and miles along the roadside, every foot of space was taken up by trailer camps, housing the lowest type of people. Yes," she stormed, "they have placed themselves in these sectors near the camp, with the sole objective of providing lewd entertainment for our fine young boys who are in defense service for the country."

Mary Murphy's story the next day carried mention of Miss Newton's report of the moral situation. It was a paragraph, the readers could tell, that was written in boredom by a reporter who had heard and written similar facts before, and failed to recognize any of it as spot news. It was mentioned, one could guess, in a spirit of tolerance and sympathy toward the quiet Miss Newton who apparently craved the limelight. And why not give it to the poor soul? That was what one read between the lines.

But Miss Newton, when she read the paper, grew hysterical. She became frightened by the written words. Her own words. She called the managing editor and screamed, "How dare you allow a dangerous reporter to quote people and distort the facts? How could anyone think that I, a woman of my standing, would be placed in a position to view conditions of vice? How do you suppose the mothers will feel? They'll be worried to death. They'll beg me to tell them that it isn't true. You must get rid of that reporter, I tell you. Get rid of her. She's a menace!"

How To Break a Long Engagement Is Some Problem

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX, Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage — Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Is there a technique in breaking an engagement?

How can one break off relations with a girl one has made love to, asked to marry, gone around with for a year or more—then suddenly ceased to love?

Is it possible to be both honest and honorable in such a case?

There are many ways of looking at this question. In the past generation, the code was simple enough. If you were engaged to a girl, you married her, whatever change of feeling you might have undergone. Otherwise, you had to reckon with her male relatives, possibly armed with shotguns.

"Breach of promise" used to be a menacing phrase, and there still is, of course, a grim legal meaning attached to it.

To what degree have things changed?

In Tight Place

I've been thinking this matter over, since receiving the following letter from Clem T., who is, you will admit, in a tight place:

"A little over a year ago I began going with a young lady who seemed just about my ideal. We had swell times together, and decided we might as well be engaged, although I wasn't making much money at the time. I thought I was in love with her, and we expected to be married next fall.

"Then about a month ago, I met a girl with whom I have fallen head over heels in love. She drives me nearly wild and I can't think of another thing, day or night. She will see me about once a week, but she knows about my fiancee, and won't promise me a thing until I have broken my engagement to the other girl.

"But, please Miss Fairfax, how can I do this? Shall I write her a letter? Or will it be all right to simply fade out? I don't want to break her heart ar anything like that; but I just couldn't live without the new love. I must have your answer, as I might as well face the facts.

"CLEM T."

I understand the delirium Clem is in, but he must somehow muster enough sanity to see that a girl who expects to be a bride in a few months deserves a good deal of consideration from the boy who seems only to want to dis-engage himself in the easiest way possible for him.

Merely to "fade out," in such a case, would be an outrage. It might be possible to break the news by letter, but the manliest and most straightforward course is to talk the matter over with the fiancee and ask to be released.

Frankness Necessary

Perfect frankness is absolutely necessary. If she's reasonable, she will consent to breaking the engagement, however much her heart and pride may suffer. If she's not reasonable—but why borrow trouble?

At this time I can't resist pointing out that this case shows how unwise it is to become engaged unless there is real love on both sides. Promise to marry a girl you merely like, and before you know it a siren comes along, the mere sight of whom will reduce your sober plans to nothingness.

From that moment this shining creature will be the center of importance, and it will be your job to renounce the first promises in order, with all possible speed, to make new ones. By all means, this is better and fairer than to marry a girl you don't love.

is sufficient to say that like the old saying about the oldtime country store there's everything from a harness to candy being sold Thursday, Friday and Saturday in local stores.

Another angle to the sale is the government's request of persons who need household articles and other commodities to buy now and prevent clogging of railroads and trucking lines with not absolutely essential materials during this fall and winter in order that national defense needs may be more quickly shipped to points where they are needed.

To Hire Extra Sales Clerks

As usual extra sales people will be on hand to handle the volume of business expected. For those people who live in the Tri-State section arrangements have been made by bus and railroad companies to transport them to this city.

Many of the local stores are air-conditioned and all have attractively displayed goods on hand. Vacation togs for those who will visit the seashore or mountains are at the season's lowest price. But furniture, clothing, and other goods are just as low in price and prospects of them going any lower are slim, it is said.

Loveless Admitted

which he said Loveless replied, "We just bumped off the old man."

Sisk also bolstered the prosecutions contention that robbery was the motive for the crime by stating that both Loveless and Miller knew Poffenberger had sold a large corn crop and also some wheat just a few days before the fatal Friday night.

The two other witnesses who quoted Loveless as saying he and Miller killed Poffenberger were Lloyd D. Diffenderfer, 21, and Joseph Slesser, also 21. Now serving time in the Maryland House of Correction, both youths were confined in the Washington county jail with Loveless and Miller in the spring.

Slaying Described

Telling substantially the same stories, the two convicts said Loveless and Miller related to them the circumstances of the slaying as follows:

Loveless and Miller knew that Poffenberger had received between $200 and $300, Diffenderfer said for sale of some machinery, while Slesser did not state for what the money was received, and determined to rob the old man.

On the night of October 11, the pair drove to the Poffenberger farm in Loveless's car, parking it several hundred feet from the house. Miller hid behind the door of a wash-house, while Loveless went to the residence and lured Poffenberger to the spot on the pretext his car had run out of gasoline and he wanted to get some.

(It was testified Monday that gasoline was kept in the wash-house to run a washing machine powered by a gasoline motor, since the farm was not wired for electricity.)

Hit with Heavy Wrench

While the old man was leaning over to pour the gasoline from a five-gallon can into a one-gallon container, Miller struck him several times with a heavy, foot-long wrench.

The old man fell, but Loveless said "we better hit him again; he knows who we are and will tell the cops. Why not kill him and be done with it?"

With this, Loveless hit the old man in the head with a hammer as he lay prostrate on the floor of the wash-house, then took $300 off the body. Of this amount, he kept $200 and gave Miller $100, although the split was supposed to be 50-50.

Loveless then hid the wrench in the stable, later throwing it in the chicken-yard, and put the hammer in his car.

Credibility Attacked

Diffenderfer said he was serving a sentence for un-authorized use of an automobile and had been previously convicted on a bad check charge. Slesser testified he had been sentenced for forgery, a charge on which he had previously been sent to the reformatory in Pennsylvania.

Defense Attorney E. Austin James, of Frederick, sought to discredit the testimony of these witnesses by inquiring what they had been promised for testifying. But both insisted they were there merely to tell the truth as they knew it and had been neither threatened nor promisd any reward.

The conversation about the murder came up, the convicts said, when Loveless and Miller got to arguing about the fact that Miller had pleaded guilty to a robbery charge for which both had been indicted. It was on this charge that the men were first arrested in March, the murder charge being lodged later.

Slesser's reference to the robbery charge brought frequent objections from defense counsel, and efforts to get the witness to tell of the conversation without mentioning this resulted in several outbursts of laughter. The crowd which filled the courtroom was rebuked by Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan, who pointed out that "this is nothing funny."

Dictaphone Used

Further damaging testimony against Loveless was offered by Lieut. Chapman, who related a conversation between Loveless and Miller as he heard it by means of a dictaphone concealed in their cell.

Use of evidence thus obtained is unusual in Maryland court practice, and defense counsel objected strenuously to its admission. It was ruled admissible however by the three presiding judges after State's Attorney Wagaman cited several authorities upholding its legality. An exception was noted by the defense.

Chapman quoted Miller as saying "I bet they want to talk to you about the Poffenberger murder," to which he said Loveless replied "They can kill me, but I won't talk." After citing further conversation along this line, the witness told of remarks made when members of the Loveless family were admitted to see the prisoners.

Helen Loveless, who married Miller some months after the slaying, asked "What do they want you to tell?"

'Ain't Telling Nothing'

"About that other affair down there," Loveless replied. At this point, Loveless's mother warned the men to "keep your traps shut about that affair," and Loveless promised, "I ain't telling nothing."

Miller was later removed from the cell and Sisk put in with Loveless for several hours, and their conversation, as reported by Chapman, was chiefly devoted to warnings by Loveless to Sisk not to tell what he knew.

Among the remarks allegedly made by Loveless at this time were these: "They want me to say Jim (Miller) done it . . . Tell 'em one little thing and we're hooked sure, but no jury will ever convict us on what they know now . . . I ain't fool enough to tell 'em I done it."

Sisk told a straightforward story concerning the events before and after the slaying and could not be shaken under a rigorous cross-examination. Defense counsel sought to discredit his testimony by ridiculing some of his statements as improbable and also by hammering at the fact he did not advise authorities of his purported knowledge of Loveless's and Miller's guilt until last month.

Not Indicted

Defense Attorney James brought out, too, that despite Sisk's admitted assistance in covering up the guilt of the accused, he was not indicted, along with members of the Loveless family, as an accessory to the crime.

Sisk denied he had been promised any immunity and explained that he was afraid of retaliation by the Loveless family if he exposed the pair. Earl Loveless told him the night of the crime that if he said anything to the authorities, he'd be "next", and similar threats were made on other occasions, he said. He thought it was reasonably safe to tell after Loveless and several members of his family were jailed, he added.

The state witness told how he and Loveless left the Poffenberger farm after supper on the night of the slaying and after visiting several points in the neighborhood went to the Loveless home. It was then, about 9 p. m., that Loveless and Miller left and returned about 9:30 or 10 p. m., with blood on their clothing, he said. Subsequent events were described by Sisk as follows:

Change Clothes

The alleged slayers changed their clothes, and then Loveless and Sisk drove to the Poffenberger farm, where they found the old man moaning. They did nothing for him, and Sisk, on orders from Loveless, got a shot-gun and patrolled the grounds to pretend he was looking for the slayer in case any one came.

The wrench was still in the wash-house, and Loveless hid it in the barn. Then they went to the nearby Sisk home and advised Sisk's parents, that "someone" had murdered Poffenberger. Mr. and Mrs. Sisk accompanied their son back to the farm, while Loveless went to notify Mrs. Florida Remsburg, the victim's daughter. Mrs. Remsburg went to her father's farm, accompanied by her husband, and later Loveless and several members of his family arrived on the scene, with physicians and county authorities arriving later.

Chickens 'Planted'

Loveless later got his young brother, Ellsworth, and Sisk to assist him in throwing suspicion on the Howell family, living nearby, by taking twenty-five chickens from the chicken-house, placing them in two large sacks and releasing them on the Howell property. When the Howells were subsequently picked up for questioning, Loveless told Sisk, "I told you so. They got 'em."

(This tied in with previous prosecution testimony that the chickens were missing the night of the slaying and returned the following Monday.)

Another move made by Loveless was to take the alleged death-weapon, the wrench, from its hiding place in the barn and place it on a pile of weeds in the chicken-yard where county officers had already searched. Loveless was quoted as saying that they wouldn't look in the same place twice.

(This testimony, too, followed statements by several witnesses that the wrench was found the following morning in a spot examined the night before.)

FBI Agens Testify

Other witnesses included Edwin S. Deiss, Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint expert, who testified that fingerprints found on the small gasoline can were those of Poffenberger, and T. D. Beach, FBI laboratory technician, who described stains on the wrench as made by human blood. Beach added that he understood some clothing was submitted to the laboratory for examination, but that he did not make the tests.

The case, moved here from Washington county on a change of venue sought by defense counsel, is being tried before a jury, with all three judges of the circuit on the bench.

State's Attorney Wagaman is being assisted in the prosecution by Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney for Allegany county, while David W. Sloan, Cumberland attorney, is association with James in the defense.

The case probably will not go to the jury until tomorrow, it was indicated.

Barker said, about the successes achieved by Hitler and many have asked whether success is not yet a criterion of greatness and right. But he said, history shows that all conquerors who became oppressors have fallen, and a movement, system or philosophy cannot survive unless it is based upon recognition of the personal rights of man and then can it be justified only if wisely directed.

Hitler's system is doomed to destruction, Barker declared, because it is founded upon racial persecutions, murders for retention of power, lootings of neighbors' properties, chains and concentration camps for those who dare to express individual opinion. The ultimate answer, Barker said, is sharp and clear.

Should Oppose Nazism

What can Americans do to avert the domination of such a system? They can oppose everything for which Nazi Germany stands, Barker said, although this does not necessarily mean plunging forthwith into war. But, the speaker warned, they must not be neutral in thought or action in view of the fate of Norway, Belgium and the Netherlands; and they must take the natural course as they would take when a ship is sinking or a house is burning. Indecision can only help the Nazi movement, he declared.

Affairs of the world affect us more than many suspect, the speaker declared, now that the airplane and the radio have made it so unbelievably small. We must continue the fight for human freedom, for the elimination of poverty, sickness, vice, corruption, persecutions and the other evils that obstruct that freedom, though the journey may be long and difficult, Barker said, if we are to achieve the right living and happiness for which the Creator destined us.

Barker, who recently spoke before the Frostburg Rotary Club, was formerly carilloneur at the University of Sidney, Australia. He has been at Mercersburg academy since 1928.

the digestive upsets that are so likely to occur at this season. One of the best safeguards is to keep the baby regularly under a doctor's care. Don't wait until the baby is sick to see the doctor. Take the well baby once a month or oftener to the doctor or to the child health conference, for advice and directions as to feeding and general care.

"Mother's milk is the safest and best food for the baby. Babies who are nursed by their mothers are less likely to suffer from stomach trouble and digestive disturbances than bottle fed babies. Babies should not be weaned during the hot weather except under a doctor's orders.

"The best substitute for mother's milk is fresh cow's milk. Evaporated milk, mixed with an equal amount of cooled, boiled water, may also be used. Sugar may be added according to the doctor's orders. All cow's milk used for babies or young children should be boiled for two or three minutes in an open pan or for twenty minutes in a double boiler. After the feedings have been prepared the milk should be kept on ice or in a cool place and carefully covered until used.

"Summer diarrhea from which many babies suffer can usually be avoided by very strict cleanliness in preparing and handling the baby's food. Pots and pans used in preparing the food should be sterilized by boiling.

"The mother should wash her hands carefully before preparing the food and before giving the baby the bottle.

"Nipples and bottles should be boiled before using. Any milk left in a bottle after using should be thrown out at once. Don't leave the bottle in the crib or baby's carriage where it will attract flies.

"Flies are likely to be carriers of disease germs and are sources of trouble. Protect the baby from them. Cover the baby's crib with mosquito netting when the baby sleeps.

"Give the baby cooled, boiled water to drink, between feedings, but be as careful to keep the bottle and nipples as clean as you keep the milk bottles.

"Keep on giving orange or tomato juice and cod-liver oil, during the summer, according to your doctor's orders.

"If the baby develops diarrheal trouble, call the doctor; don't let it run on. If you haven't a doctor, ask your county health officer to send a public health nurse to your home."

Odd Twin Killing

ST. LOUIS—In a recent Yankee-Brown game Tommy Henrich, New York outfielder, singled into a double play, With Red Rolfe on first Henrich bounced a hit into left field. Roy Cullenbine's throw nipped Rolfe attempting to make third on the play, and Thirdsacker Harland Clift then tossed to McQuinn, who tagged out Henrich returning to the sack after rounding the bag.

Today's GARDEN-GRAPH

By DEAN HALLIDAY

(Distributed by Central Press Association)

TREATMENT OF TREES DYING OF DROUGHT

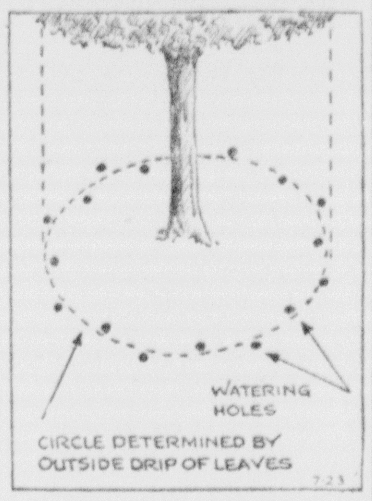
Trees suffer from lack of sufficient water and frequently die of thirst. The drought experienced in many parts of the country this year will cause serious damage unless tree owners water their trees frequently and intelligently.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph the feeding roots of a tree are located as far out from the trunk as the spread of the branches. Therefore, to water in a circle just about the trunk is a mistake. The watering should start from about half way out to the outer end of the foliage.

During a particularly hot, dry summer a number of holes under the extremities of the branch spread should be made with a crowbar, and the holes should be filled with water. Do this every ten days during the drought.



New Jersey was the first state to establish a state highway department, in 1891.

"The Authority on Authorities"

THE DEFENSIVE HOLD-UP

IT IS NOT often that the defensive side gets a chance to use the hold-up play to good effect. Usually it is the declarer who employs it, because he can survey all of his resources and is better able to figure out the factors which make the play advisable. Upon occasion, however, a keen-eyed defender can spot a chance to use it with devastating results, perhaps destroying communication between the declarer's own hand and the dummy.

Bidding was about like that at most tables of a duplicate, the main variation being that South rebid his spades before showing the hearts. It was a risky slam, with only seven trumps, and two pairs were set, one by his own bad play and one by good defense.

The inefficient declarer won the diamond 9 lead with the A, led to the spade A, led the spade 2 for a ruff by the heart 3, took in the heart K and led the heart 5 for a finesse which lost to the Q. West returned the diamond 7 to the K. To get into his own hand then, South laid down the club A and 3, ruffing with the heart J. If the trumps had been evenly divided between the defenders, the heart A then would have dropped them, and the spades could have been run, for a successful contract. But they weren't. West still had the 8, so South could take only one more trick with the spade K, then had to lose a ruffed spade to West, plus two clubs, putting him down three.

The more efficient declarer won the opener with the diamond A, cashed the spade A, then led the spade 2 to be ruffed by the heart K. He then led the heart 3 to the J, which lost to the Q. West returned the diamond 7 to the A, and the heart 5 to the A, plus the heart 9, settled West's trumps, so that the spades were run for contract.

Another declarer, playing exactly the same way, was pleased when the heart J finesse held. He returned to dummy with the club A and finessed the heart 10, which West won, having held up before. He returned a diamond to the K, but South had to use a ruff to get to his hand. So he got the same result as the weak declarer, but not from his own fault.

Alternate Routes For Chesapeake Bay Ferry Are Considered

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP) — The State Roads Commission hopes to have completed within a month a survey of possible alternate routes for the newly-acquired Chesapeake bay ferry, chairman Ezra B. Whitman says.

The engineering firm of F. Lester Simon, Baltimore, has been retained by the commission to make the survey, Whitman said, and to recommend the best location for terminals.

The commission chairman said he hoped to have results of the survey inside of a month.

A preliminary study made last winter by W. C. Hopkins, commission bridge engineer, recommended that the terminals be moved North from Annapolis and Matapeake, their present locations. Hopkins suggested a route from Sandy Point to a spot on the Eastern Shore opposite Stevensville, cutting by about half the running distance.

The bridge engineer's study was made at a time when the state was negotiating with the Annapolis-Claiborne Company for the ferry line, which was taken over on June 10.

Available to the roads commission for the erection of new terminals is $1,000,000, earmarked out of an $11,000,000 bond issue for construction purposes approved by the last legislature.

Stockholm has more than 160,000 women registered with its preparedness bureau.

Tip-Off

Seven-Room Home Sawed in Twain

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—When the Rev. Aloysius Brunswick found he had purchased a frame house so large it couldn't—but had to be—moved through Tulsa streets, he called for a carpenter.

"Saw the house," he said, "right through the middle."

So G. E. Hartley went to work on the seven-room bungalow and cut through the roof, the siding, the ceiling and the floor. All with an ordinary hand saw.

Then the house sections were moved through the streets and carpenters nailed it back together again.

For the Scrapbook

SALEM, Va. (AP)—"What's-in-a-name" devotees may be interested to learn that the first baker in Salem was "Mrs. Sweet, the cake woman."

Here's a Fish Story That Falls Flat

ANDERSON, S. C. (AP)—Yes, sir, Dietitian John Sullivan told his associates at the Anderson county jail, the rain had been so heavy "that it rained this little fish." He exhibited a two-inch minnow he had picked up on the sidewalk.

It was a fine story until a reporter came along. He investigated and found that the downpour had filled a tub containing minnows for sale at a store—and washed Sullivan's find overboard.

'Wars and Rumors Of Wars'

LUMBERTON, N. C., (AP) — John Kinlaw heard one of his employes remark to a companion:

"I just heered that deys havin' a war in Europe."

"Shucks, you can hear anything these days," was the reply.

And the Deputy's Name Was Dan(ise)

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP)—A lion fancier here proved to be a bootlegger who kept his illicit liquor under the floor of a cage containing two roaring beasts.

After Deputies Charlie Anderson and J. E. Rhoades made unsuccessful forays into the vicinity of the cage they held a council of war—and nominated Deputy Danise Tise to enter while they "engaged" the beasts on either side.

Tise went in—and recovered five pints of whiskey without a scratch.

Children Should Be Taught That Crying Is Futile

Doctor Advises Parents to Treat It as a Bad Habit

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Some mothers have serious problems over crying babies. They do not wish to be hard-hearted but they do want to train their little children. One mother wrote:

"The baby has just passed his first birthday, and is just recovering from a three weeks illness. He will scream. At first I believe earache caused it, but now that he is about well again (I've had the doctor's O. K.) he still screams. I don't think it's temper. I think it's just that he wants some one to stand near him and amuse him."

The second mother wrote:

"I have a boy four years of age. He most always wakes up cross. He squeals so much when things don' suit him and is rude. He always wants to call me names. Example, 'I want to go outside, you little Dumb,' then squeals and shouts."

In both these cases, the child has learned that he gets rewarded for his screaming or squealing. Once your doctor has assured you there is no physical cause of the screaming or squealing, treat the matter as a bad habit.

Be Nonchalant

Work on yourself. When you can stand it no longer, assign the child to sit in a chair, if he will stay there, doing nothing for exactly twenty minutes. If at that time he is not through crying let him sit longer. When your child awakens again and again in bad humor, let him know he will have no attention until he is quiet. Show no feeling about the matter. Try to be very nonchalant. In the meanwhile gb your way.

When the little child screams to get you to amuse him, be busy. Keep busy for exactly twenty minutes, ignoring him. Then, regardless of how he acts, go to him and amuse him for about twenty minutes, and go away again to be busy. By following the clock yourself you will not be inclined to go to him too soon, and he will learn that his cries are futile.

Spanking Necessary

When the baby calls you names spank him. Let there be no exceptions.

The first mother also wanted to know how to keep her baby reasonably still while dressing him.

It might help to place in his hands an attracitve toy, or sing a lullaby td him, or even to talk to him.

You may have a list of pamphlets I have written on the common everyday problems of bringing up the baby and young child by writing me at 235 East Forty-fifth street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Please suggest how I might encourage my children 8 and 10 to read more good books during the summer.

A. Bring home from the library some good books you suppose they would like. Better still, prevail on them to go to the public library once or twice a week, going with them if they desire you to. But don't talk too much about their reading more. It might be that they and some of their playmates would like to form a book club and have a meeting once a week at your home to tell one another about the books.

Sandbox Suggestions

Keep the children's sandbox in the air and sun as much as possible. It is a good idea to provide a wooden cover which can be quickly applied when rain comes. This will help keep out part of the moisture. Always make sure that the sand is dry before letting the youngsters sit in it.

Work Opportunities Double for Boys and Girls under Eighteen

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—Under the stimulus of defense program activity, work opportunities for boys and girls under the age of eighteen have more than doubled in the Baltimore industrial area and the state generally, a survey in the office of Labor Commissioner John M. Polhaus indicates.

For the past several months, Pohlhaus said, boys and girls have been standing in long lines at his office, seeking work certificates required by employers to enable them to conform to the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards act and of state laws.

So great was the demand for certificates this year, particularly since the closing of schools, Pohlhaus said, that the federal government provided his office with three workers to assist in issuing the certificates.

Up until the close of business on July 18, 9,326 work certificates had been issued this year, Miss Mary M. Wootton, supervisor of the permit department, said. This compares with 4,012 certificates issued up until the end of July last year.

In addition, she reported, the number of work permits issued to boys and girls under sixteen has almost trebled. Through last Friday, 1,320 permits had been issued this year, compared with only 484 during the first seven months of 1940.

Working Hours Are Staggered To Solve Traffic Bottlenecks

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP) — The Glenn L. Martin plant at Middle River has introduced staggered shifts for its twenty-four-hour day in an effort to relieve the traffic bottlenecks caused by automobile congestion when employes enter and leave the plant.

Until today manufacturing forces reported for or left work at 8 a. m., 4:30 p. m. and 12:15 a. m. Und the new plan, workers report a fifteen to 30 minute intervals between 6:30 and 8:45 a. m., 3:45 an 6:45 p. m., and 10:45 and 11: p. m.

In addition, employes from various districts of the thickly-populated area near the plant were assigned definite parking places in th plant grounds according to the approach they use.

With a new plant and assembl building scheduled to begin operations within two months, officia said the personnel soon would exceed $42,000. Martin said a ne four-lane approach to the pla from Philadelphia highway wou fall far short of solving the neigh bor hood traffic problem.

Sheriff Captures One Still a Month

BERLIN, Md., July 22 (AP)—Sheriff J. William Hall is keeping up his batting average of smashing a still a month.

The sheriff took office thirty-two months ago and over the week-end hauled in a forty-gallon zinc boiler and a pile of copper coils, his thirty-second illicit liquor plant he has captured.

The sheriff figures that still-a-month average since December 1, 1938 has cost bootleggers an estimated $12,800 in equipment alone, that total being based on $400 for each still destroyed.

Report Is Made On Syphilis Tests

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Blood tests of 677,832 applicants for marriage licenses disclosed only 9,017, or 1.3 per cent were infected with syphilis, the American Social Hygiene Association said in announcing results of a survey in 13 states.

Dr. Walter Clarke, executive director of the association, said that premarital and prenatal examination laws provided one of the most effective means of protecting the home and family from syphilis and that such examinations have prevented many infections.

The survey was conducted in California, Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Upstate New York, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Wisconsin and West Virginia.

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Become Radio News Commentator

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt is soon to become a sponsored radio news commentator.

Eurico Penteado, chairman of the Pan-American Coffee Bureau, announced the president's wife would comment on current events over a nation-wide network in a series of weekly fifteen-minute broadcasts beginning in September. The programs will be sponsored by the bureau, which represents coffee growers in Brazil, Colombia, Mexico, Venezuela, Costa Rica, Cuba and El Salvador.

Expressing gratification at Mrs. Roosevelt's acceptance of his invitation to participate in the broadcasts, Penteado said:

"We feel that at a time of world chaos, it will be most helpful in maintaining the economic well-being of the Central and South American countries which depend so much upon the export of coffee."

Rover Rides High

STATESVILLE, N. C., (AP)—Pink Eagle has a hobo dog. When the dog was a pup Eagle let him ride inside his automobile. But when Rover grew older he was put out. Then he began to climb atop the car everytime it started and now rides on the metal top at speeds as high as 30 miles an hour.

2,000 YEARS NEW

AP Feature Service

How long is a new vegetable in the making? Well, this one started as a weed more than 2,000 years ago, according to David Burpee, cousin of the late Luther Burbank.

It is called rhubarb chard and was developed by Burpee from a rainbow chard which Burbank had produced from leaf beets, ornamental beets and Swiss chard.

Before the time of Christ, people along the Mediterranean were eating a coarse weed. Cultivation of the plant resulted in two lines of descendants — the chards and the beets. The experiments brought the family together in this new plant, which has stems to fry as fritters and leaves to use as summer greens.

Disproves Doctor

PORT ELGIN, Ont.—Because of a chronic lung condition, Cecil Kelleher was given six months to live by his physician, provided he continued to play athletics. Kelleher was star goalie last winter for Paisley, which staged a seven-game playoff with Seaforth before losing.

He plans to play more hockey this winter.

Rebuttal

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—T. E. Jenkins vouches for this one about his niece, Margaret Baker, and her cocker spaniel pup, Brown Sugar.

Brown Sugar had contracted the annoying habit of chewing on the upholstery. His owner decided that discipline was needed, and the next time she caught him working on a divan, she switched him. The dog dashed upstairs, returned with a card he had taken from her desk, and dropped it in Miss Baker's lap. It was her membership card in the Humane Society.

Long Wait

PHILADELPHIA—The Phillies won their only National League pennant in 1915 under Pat Moran and finished second in 1916 and 1917. Since that time they have wound up in the first division only once, finishing fourth in 1932, when Burt Shotton was at the helm.

O'Conor Says State Highway Program To Move Forward

ANNAPOLIS, Md., July 22 (AP)—Governor O'Conor says that approval by the House of the defense highway bill "gives definite assurance that our access roadway program will be launched in the near future.

He said in a statement that the road-building program would continue to go forward. A survey by the State Roads Commission, made at his request, showed road contracts totalling $4,415,987 let since May 1.

The governor said contracts exceeding $500,000 had been let in connection with roads to the Glenn L. Martin plant and that an additional $500,000 was provided for further access roads there.

Of the 1,387,897 annual death total, as reported by last census figures, only 1,922 resulted from typhoid fever.

Gains of Fractions to a Point Are Registered at Start of Trading

Transfers Total 1,350,630 the Second Largest since Last Nov. 12

By BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP) — The stock market attempted to tear off another rally today but many of those who were aboard in Monday's sharp runup cashed in sufficient profits to halt the move.

Gains of fractions to a point or so were posted at the fastest opening of the year to date. Rails and other favorites changed hands in blocks of 1,000 to 10,000 shares and for a brief interval, the ticker tape was slightly late for the first time since Dec. 14. The first hour's turnover of 270,000 shares was the largest since Nov. 8, 1940.

Transfers of 1,350,630 were the second largest since Nov. 12. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks finished the day with a net loss of .1 of a point at 44.1.

Under water at the last were United States, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, United States Rubber, Goodyear, Goodrich, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Atlantic Coast Line, DuPont, J. I. Case, Western Union, Anaconda, Texas Corp., and Montgomery Ward.

Holding moderate improvement were American Telephone, Standard Oil (NJ), International Harvester, United States Gypsum and Jones and Laughlin preferred.

In a mixed Curb Aluminum of America slipped, along with Glen Alden Coal and Phoenix Securities. Gainers included Gulf Oil, Creole Petroleum, American Gas and American Cyanamid "B". Volume here was around 171,000 shares.

Increased Loans Are Reported By Romney Co-Op

Powell Attributes Rise to Increase Farm Production

ROMNEY, W. Va., July 22 — Farmers in this section helped to swell the loan volume of the Romney Production Credit Association up to July 1 this year to the largest six-month's figures in the credit co-op's history, according to Mr. Robert T. Powell, a director.

Reporting $157,000 loaned during the first six months of this year, Powell said a good share of it went to finance seasonal operations of farmers in this section. The 1941 figure is $21,000 over the 1940 figure of $136,000 for the same period.

Some of the increase, he said, can be attributed to farmers' increasing production of certain farm commodities to aid the national defense program.

Reports from all over the nation, the production credit director declared, indicate that some time during this month, some farmer somewhere in the United States will receive the two billionth dollar to be loaned by a production credit assocciation.

Since the Romney association was organized by farmers early in 1934, it has loaned $1,620,000 to finance livestock and general farming operations in Hampshire, Hardy, Grant, Pendleton, Mineral, Berkeley, Jefferson, Morgan counties in West Virginia, Allegany and Garrett counties in Maryland.

Awards Are Given At 4-H Camp

At the close of camp awards were given to outstanding campers and club members as follows:

Awards for tribal loyalty—Steve Roach, Andrew Michael, Mae Veach, Ramona Kiser, Martha Jane Long, Patricia Parker, O'Nile Brown, ONeal Haines, Harry Saville and Ernest Combs.

Clover leaf to older campers—Lenora Williams, Hannah Grace Wagoner, Hannah Mary Oates, Pauline Michael, Eugene Ganoe, Elaine Daugherty, William Kiser and Santford Montgomery.

Gold and Blue emblem for outstanding all-around club work — Lena Lee.

Swastika emblem for outstanding leadership — Mrs. Lillian Eaton.

At the closing exercises of the camp Eugene Thompson represented the Spirit of the Camp, Ruth Law the Head-H, Hilda Crane the Hert-H, Edith Pancake the Hand-H and Billy Parker the Health-H.

The Seneca tribe, Eugene Thompson, chief was the high pointer; the Delaware tribe, Mary Davis, chief, second; Cherokee tribe, Hilda Crane chief, third, and the Mingo tribe, Ruth Law chief, fourth.

Hopkins said actual construction on the bridge, which includes a short swing span, had been completed. Opening of the span to traffic awaits only completion of earth approaches, and the exact date will depend somewhat on weather conditions, he said.

BOLIVIAN DEFENSE MINISTER REPORTS ON NAZI CONSPIRACY

LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 22 (AP)—Defense Minister Gen. Miguel Candia has returned from Cochabama province and reported to President Enrique Penaranda on the arrest there of several high-ranking Bolivian military officers in connection with the energetic investigation of an alleged Nazi conspiracy to seize power.

Herman Schroth, a German citizen and former manager of Lloyd Aereo Boliviano, also was among those arrested in Cochabamba as well as several civilians. Over the weekend the government declared a state of siege and arrested three newspapermen and former Finance Minister Victor Paz Estenssoro, and ordered the expulsion of the German minister, Ernst Wendler.

A German legation spokesman said Wendler would leave tomorrow for Antofagasta, Chile.

President Penaranda, who favors close co-operation with the United States in Western Hemisphere defense plans, met with his cabinet just before General Candia reported.

The Newspaper Ultima Hora charged that "a substantial quantity of arms and ammunitions had been imported through a German firm and cached in several provinces."

Three clandestine radio transmitting stations, one of which was in the German legation, were used by the alleged conspirators, the newspaper said.

Deputy Carlos Gonzalo Saavedra, leader of the Republican Socialist party which enjoys the greatest popularity in Bolivia, returned today from Buenos Aires and declared his party's full endorsement of President Penaranda's action.

Japanese Radio

forces were preparing to invade Indo-China. All three countries mentioned have been included in the Japanese "Great Asia" program.

Piecing the puzzle together, observers here pictured Japan obtaining both military and economic concessions of a major character in Indo-China and Thailand.

This would carry the Japanese within striking distance of British Malaya and the English stronghold at Singapore, with the Dutch East Indies and their great raw material resources lying just beyond.

Other Developments

A naval dispatch concerning the Japanese censorship was presented to the president late in the day just before his press conference. He announced its contents to the correspondents, and added in response to the question that he considered it significant. He said the dispatch had been referred to radio and cable companies for checking, but declined to discuss the matter further.

At the same time, Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that new action may be undertaken by this government to combat any German infiltration into Latin America. The blacklisting of 1,800 firms and individuals in Latin America by the United States would not go so far as to prevent any further German infiltrations there, he said, and maybe additional steps would be taken.

Other developments today included:

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the Senate naval committee read "confidential" naval reports to the effect that sabotage had caused a number of fires and accidents in defense plants, and the Senate approved, 41 to 14, a bill authorizing the establishment of a special force to investigate "existing or threatened espionage or sabotage" in the navy's shore establishments. Already passed by the House, it now goes back to that chamber for action on Senate amendments.

Before the House naval committee, Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics said deliveries of navy planes had fallen twenty per cent short of estimates in the last six months. Inferentially he blamed the granting of higher priorities to land plane construction for Britain and the United States Army and said these were causing "grave concern."

1,547 Planes Delivered

Original estimates called for 1,995 planes in the six month period, but only 1,547 were actually delivered. The estimates, however, made an allowance for possible slow deliveries in the early part of 1941 and were based on an expectation that even if this occurred total deliveries for the year would closely approximate the number scheduled.

During the day, the Senate approved a $585,000,000 authorization for new navy ships repairs and for naval ordnance. The measure now goes to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature.

Meanwhile, OPM schedules revealed a need for a vastly expanded number of defense workers in the next year, including a five-fold increase in those employed in aircraft production.

At the same time, Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, called on the railroads and railroad unions to transfer 100,000 skilled maintenance workers to the defense industries. They are "critically needed," he said.

Aircraft factory payrolls must jump from the present 200,000 to about 1,000,000 by July 1942, Hillman added, and shipbuilding will require an increase from 375,000 to 555,000 workers.

Draft Bill in Spotlight

In Congress, all attention was on the administration proposal that the training period of draftees, reserves and national guardsmen be prolonged. Hearings before the Senate military committee found Brig. Gen. John McAuley Palmer, retired, urging such legislation because of what he considered a grave danger from abroad.

"In my opinion," he said, "our peril is greater than it ever has been in our history. All of the forces of Naziism are deployed against us. In order to achieve his aim, Hitler must conquer or encircle the United States."

The Rev. A. J. Muste, of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, opposed the legislation and said that if "decent pay" were offered, volunteers would present themselves in such numbers as to make further action by Congress unnecessary.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) offered a substitute plan under which the men could be kept in service for sixteen months instead of the indefinite period provided under the administration proposal. Under present law their service is limited to twelve months.

Meanwhile, the House naval committee approved legislation which would double the current bonuses paid to men who re-enlist in the navy. The new rates would range from $200 to $600. The navy presented data showing that reenlistments had dropped from eighty-four to sixty per cent in the last year.

To help England pay for materials and war implements contracted for before the passage of the lease-lend act, the federal loan agency agreed to lend Great Britain $425,000,000 on collateral valued at $500,000,000.

Buddy de Sylva, producer of movies and musical comedies, was on the stage when he was four years old.

Cavalry Is Not

"Cavalry that hangs back, that doesn't act with dispatch and vigor, does not do a full job," General Kruger told several hundred officers—brigade, regimental and lesser commanders.

Conditions Are Bad

"Conditions here are bad but they are nothing to what you will get in Louisiana. There is no excuse for scout cars bogging down. Let a man get out on his two tootsies and find a suitable trail."

In Louisiana, with almost a half million men maneuvering over about half the state, General Krueger's army will be opposed by the Second Army, commanded by Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear.

Alluding to tank forces and "aggressive enemies", General Krueger said "modern conditions and difficulties to the cavalry's job, but I don't think it is insoluble".

He urged a return to fundamentals, with less dependence on radio and mechanization, so that when these means of communication fail as they did during the storm in yesterday's exercise the cavalry will not be worthless.

Nazis Use

was no way of breaking through. One company commander and two platoon commanders had fallen already."

After days of hard fighting the Germans had pushed deep into Russian defenses but the main fortifications were still in Russian hands, Bersch explained.

During the night flame throwers were sent forward and burned away the forest in order to give guns a clear field.

"At the same time, bunker specialists, masters in the use of explosives and flame, stood ready," Bersch wrote.

"At 5 a. m. (Tuesday) the battle broke out anew. Where an impenetrable forest stood yesterday, there now were only blackened tree stumps—a landscape of ashes. Far behind, in the smoke, were the reinforced concrete positions of the enemy.

"Anti-aircraft guns (apparently machine-guns) began a direct onslaught. Farther back, heavy guns of the German artillery shelled until noon.

Picked Russian Troops Used

"Again the shock troops advanced, working forward under the protection of artillery fire. Then, at a moment's notice, the German batteries ceased fire. Only a few bunkers were still intact. These, however, defended themselves to the last man. They had to be put out of action by flame throwers and hand grenade charges before the infantry was able to advance on a broad front through the breaches."

Bersch said that prisoners who were examined later reported that picked Russian troops had practiced fighting in these positions for years.

Soviet Panzer Corps Wiped Out

Another DNB dispatch said a Soviet commissar's report declaring that the third Russian Panzer Corps on the Northeast front had been wiped out was found in a Russian plane which made an emergency landing.

The high command announced that the dusk to dawn raid on Moscow was made by 'strong combat units inroling attacks" and informed sources said it compared to the biggest raid on England.

Twenty spreading fires were seen east of the Kremlin, it was said and the entire region of the Moscow river bend, site of Communist party administrative offices and power plants, was described as aflame.

The German reports said the Soviet defenses were ineffective, although plenty of shelling and searchlight activity was in evidence.

Explosive bombs of all calibers and thousands of incendiaries fell on vital objectives, a spokesman said.

The high command said the attack was in retaliation for Russian raids on "the open capitals of our allies, Bucharest and Helsinki," and, significantly that "buildings of high Soviet executive and administrative importance" were "destroyed or badly damaged."

D t Provide for Family

Dea iss Fairfax:

I een married three years to an who has suddenly become an alcoholic addict. He di always drink so much, but he often comes into the e under the influence of r and its distresses me very ch. We have a twenty-three-nths old baby, and lately he s not given me much money th which to run the house. If weren't for my parents we'd ften go hungry.

Of course, there's another woman. The baby doesn't have the proper clothing and when I took some money out of his pocket to get much-needed shoes, he called me a thief and became terribly wrought up, saying he'd have me arrested for stealing.

DISCOURAGED.

Nothing could clear up the tragic situation of which you write me more quickly than to have your husband bring you into court. Legally, he is bound to provide you and the baby with food and clothing, and the judge would see to it that he fulfilled these obligations, or send him to jail. His threat is an empty one.

It might be a good move on your part if you actually did what he threatens to do, and took your troubles to a Domestic Relations Court, or its equivalent, in your home town.

Also, if you'll send me your name and a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope, I shall be glad to give you the name and address of an organization which has done wonders for alcoholic addicts, and has helped to cure many cases.

Girl of Another Nationality

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Recently I met a very lovely girl who interests me very much and I've been taking her out occasionally. However, I've just found out that she is descended from a nationality which I have always hated. Do you think this would cause unhappiness, should it turn out to be a serious affair? Should I try to find someone else, or overcome this feeling?

UNCERTAIN

Have you ever made a study of the people of this nation that you hate? I suggest you do that, and that may give you a different opinion of the inhabitants. Sometimes we let our thoughts center on some historical happenings and lose sight of the great mass of the people, living peacefully and simply in these nations that we think we dislike.

Go to your public library and read everything you can about these people and then see if you do not feel differently. If you cannot overcome this prejudice, I believe it would be best for you to give up this beautiful girl and try to forget her.

Wants Her To Go Out with Others

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My boy friend and I live in the same neighborhood, and we have been engaged for about a year. Recently he decided he wanted more freedom, and since then has been taking out other girls. He comes to see me once a week, and then he's always so broke that we can't go anywhere.

I've read that no man is worth fighting for, and I don't know whether or not to fight for him. He tells me about his dates with other girls, and wants me to go out with other boys, but I don't care to do it.

We've known each other for years, and our families are old friends. As far as I know, his folks like me and I know mine thinks a great deal of him. I think, sometimes, if we didn't live so near to each other it might be better for us but we can't change that.

I've done all I can to please him, but he doesn't seem to appreciate it. His new friends are out for all they can get.

LONELY.

I'm inclined to agree with your statement no man is worth fighting for—at least, as far as this young man is concerned. Evidently he belongs to the type that falls in and out of love easily, and one girl seems as desirable to him as another.

He suggests you go out with others—I honestly believe it would be sensible for you to take his advice. Love is the most precious thing in the world; why waste it on the unworthy?

Father Is Stern

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Four years ago I married for a second time. My husband is seventeen years older than I am and has a son of 26. I have a daughter of thirteen.

His son lives in an apartment over our garage which my husband built, and although he is working steadily, he pays no rent or expenses whatsoever. My husband is also employed.

I've always had to earn the necessaries of my daughter's and my own wants, as I'm working too. Recently, my husband has been finding fault with everything my little girl does—won't let her listen to the radio, takes the paper away from her when she's reading, and many other things.

I've told my daughter I'll buy her a radio for her room, but she says she's beginning to hate her stepfather because she doesn't have the home life other children her age have. I'd rather move out and forget the whole deal than have so much quarrelling.

DONNA

Thank goodness you've got a job and are able to earn your own and your daughter's living. So many women without the ability to earn a penny feel obliged to put up with a situation like yours. Why not have "a good straight talk" with your husband and tell him that you'll have to make other arrangements if he doesn't treat your daughter better.

It seems from what you've written, your husband doesn't know when he's well off.

Suggestions for the Draftee

A friend of mine told me that

Cancers of Skin Give Due Warning; Rough Spots Always Danger Signal

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Cancers of the skin give due warning of their existence.

All my doctor friends over the age of fifty know this, and profit by it in their own persons. They are very careful to take advice and treatment about the little rough spots that break open on slight provocation from a scratch or a little shaving accident.

These places have a tendency not to heal smoothly. Technically they are known as keratoses. Among many they are regarded lightly—"just a scratch I can't get to heal." But, as I say, among the experts—the doctors over fifty—they are shown a great deal of respect.

Warning Signals

When nature is in a mood to give warning of impending disaster, you had best pay attention to her. These keratoses are among the few early danger signals that nature gives of the approach—the far-off approach fortunately—of cancer. They can be successfully treated, and the cancer circumvented and prevented.

Dr. Oliver S. Ormsby, one of the best-known American Dermatologists, gave a lecture in Boston, listing other pre-cancerous appearances of the skin. In elderly skin, in men more often than women, on exposed skin surfaces, skin that takes the impact of wind and sun, such as the forehead, the temple, the nose, the back of the hands, a dry, scaly pigmented nard spot pinhead to dime size, should always be regarded with suspicion. The flat senile wart is in the same category.

White, dead-looking tissue under the tongue on the inside surface of the mouth, a condition known as leukaplakia, is also a forerunner of something worse.

In the mouth, leukaplakia is preceded by the use of tobacco, especially chewing tobacco.

In treatment, the first thing is to get rid of any irritations. Yank the chewing tobacco away from them if necessary by calling in the police and interdict hot and cold foods, condiments, vinegar, etc. These things don't cause the disease but they keep it going.

Dangerous Type of Mole

The most dangerous type of mole is flat, slaty or blue-black in color. They are commonly seen near the eyes and on the feet. Their simple existence is indication for wide removal. And by wide removal is meant just that. The tragedies occur when attempts are made to remove them by monkeying with them—burning them, shaving off the top, corrosive plasters, etc. Nobody can miss one of the blue moles. An active young cobra in the home is not more dangerous.

Questions and Answers

H. H. R.:—"What is the cause and best treatment of lumbago?"

Answer: Lumbago is muscular rheumatism in the large lumbar muscles of the back. It may be caused from bad teeth, tonsils, exposure, strain of the back from occupation. Treatment is to remove the cause if it can be found and relieve pain by massage, heat, diathermy and sun lamps.

BRITAIN'S WOMAN GENERAL FAVORS SNAPPIER UNIFORMS

LONDON, July 22 (AP)—Slim, 33-year-old Mrs. Jean Knox took over control of the Women's Auxiliary Territorial Service branch of the army today with the promise that its 50,000 women she would give them a snappier uniform.

With the rank of major general—the first woman to hold such rank in the army—she sits at a big desk in a big room in the war office. She is the mother of a 14-year-old girl and wife of an RAF squadron leader.

Mrs. Knox hopes the new four-panelled skirt and tailored jacket she designed for her troops to replace the old plain-cut khaki shirt and coat will coax more girls into the A.T.S. to give her army 200,000 by Christmas. Its jobs are cooking, secretarial, communications and other work in the army which women can do to relieve men for fighting.

The A.T.S. ranks have been full of complaint about their dress on the ground that the Women's Auxiliary Air Force and the Women's Royal Naval Service, with their smart uniforms, have been getting all the dates.

Ickes Plans Check On Voluntary Cut In Gas Consumption

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—Interior Secretary Ickes has set up machinery for a check on public compliance with his request for a voluntary one-third cut in gasoline consumption in the Eastern Seaboard states.

The defense petroleum co-ordinator asked major oil companies operating in the area to give him weekly reports on their retail sales, explaining the purpose was to determine "what effect requests for voluntary curtailment have on the use of gasoline."

Asking for the voluntary reduction in consumption, Ickes said yesterday it was nec ry if compulsory rationing was be avoided because of the prospect oil shortage due to transfer to tish service of some oil tanke normally employed i ntransport il from Gulf to Atlantic ports.

An appeal for motorists to operate with defense officials came today from Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobil Association.

TAKE OFF UGLY FAT
May lose 3 to 5 lbs. a week yet EAT plenty
No Reducing Drugs—
No Exercises—No Massage
Men and women all over the United States are reporting remarkable results in losing weight. Many tell of reducing 20 pounds a month and more. These people are following the Plan of Dr. Edward Parrish, noted physician, former Health Officer, State of New York, Surgeon-in-Chief, a Medical Staff, U.S. Army, Editor, Lecturer.
Dr. Parrish's Reducing Plan makes reducing a pleasure. A pleasure because it allows you to EAT PLENTY, requires no exercises. Harmless, too, because it calls for no reducing drugs, no loss of vitality.
Here is Dr. Parrish's Reducing Plan EXACTLY as given by him over the air to millions: For lunch take 2 teaspoonsful of Cal-Par in a glass of fruit juice, or any beverage. Take nothing else for lunch except a cup of coffee if desired. For breakfast and dinner EAT AS YOU USUALLY DO. Don't cut out fatty, starchy foods—just cut down on them. Try Dr. Parrish's Reducing Plan for one week. You and your friends will be amazed at the vast improvement in your figure. Most overweight cases should be helped by Dr. Parrish's Plan.
Cal-Par is not a reducing drug. It is a special purpose food supplying calcium, iron, phosphorous, and Vitamin D. Get a can today, plain or chocolate flavor. Cal-Par costs only about 3c a day to use.
Money back if not satisfied—FREE: With your first purchase of Cal-Par, a copy of Dr. Parrish's 7-Day Reducing Plan, a 48-page book which includes a personal talk on reducing by Dr. Parrish.

Bette Davis Leads Difficult Film Life

Bette Davis is a funny girl. And she takes it seriously.

For her first real fun-making on the screen, a Warner Bros. picture called "The Bride Came C.O.D.," and opening Friday at Liberty theater, Bette traveled to the unfunniest place in the world, to the hot, rough sand dunes of Death Valley.

In her first scene, she leaped out of an airplane and landed in a cactus patch. As a matter of fact, she was supposed to land in soft sand. Instead, she leaped too enthusiastically, lit sunny side down on the cactus, and rose with a howl that shamed the valley's coyotes. Dr. Lester Clark gave first aid with a pair of tweezers. He made forty-five gestures, and Bette took the day off, standing up.

In another scene—delayed until Bette felt able to take it—James Cagney shot her in the rear with a rubber slingshot. After that, Bette allowed herself to be blown up in a 1909 model Oldsmobile.

During all of these sequences Bette worked as hard and as seriously as she ever worked in such grim performances as she gave in "The Letter," "Dark Victory," and "Juarez," dramas which were relieved by no such monkeyshines as cactus sitting.

Betty Field, Wayne Just Had To Meet

John Wayne and Betty Field are the screen's newest romantic team—and it's all because Henry Hathaway, the Paramount director, thought they'd been kept apart long enough!

Ever since he saw Betty perform in "Victory," opposite Frederic March, and John Wayne in "The Long Voyage Home," Hathaway was imbued with the idea of some day bringing them together as a team. When the noted director was assigned the megaphone job on the new Paramount technicolor romantic drama, "The Shepherd of the Hills," the film version of the Harold Bell Wright best-selling novel now at the Strand theater, he immediately decided to star Wayne and Miss Field. Then he called Harry Carey for the third starring role.

To Hathaway, Miss Field's short, trim figure, and sensitive, expressive face, are set off perfectly by Wayne's tall, husky physique and rugged good looks. Miss Field and Wayne he considers two of the best players on the screen today. They complement each other perfectly, says Hathaway.

In "The Shepherd of the Hills," Wayne and Miss Field portray two of the best-known characterizations in American fiction. Wayne is seen as Young Matt, the lusty, rifle-toting young feuding mountaineer, and Betty Field, Sammy Lane, the spitfire mountain maid, who will not give him her love until he has put down his rifle to end the conflicts which have kept the hills in turmoil.

APPEARING IN NEW ROMANTIC DRAMA

Mary Anderson and Donald Douglas are the high spirited duo in this light-hearted scene from "Cheers For Miss Bishop," the new romantic drama currently appearing at the Maryland theater.

Gripping Film Fare Offered at Maryland

Thrilling romance and poignant drama sweep through the intensely emotinonal story which is unfolded in Richard A. Rowland's "Cheers For Miss Bishop," the stirring film drama which opened yesterday at the Maryland theater, under the United Artists banner.

"Cheers For Miss Bishop" has for its background the rich and colorful days of the gay '90's when women as well as men shared in the lusty life of a mid-western university town. The beautiful and exciting heroine of this town is Martha Scott, who finds herself sought and loved by three men, William Gargan, Sidney Blackmer and Donald Douglas. This three-cornered romance overshadows, of course, the absorbing background story which deals with the start and growth of a great university.

In addition to the outstanding performances turned in by the stars and the featured players, "Cheers For Miss Bishop" wins high praise for the brilliance of its production and direction. The story moves along at a smart pace, with excellent photography, lighting and dialogue enriching its gripping tale from the first shot to the final fadeout. Many large and elaborate sets built for the picture attest to the lavishness of the production.

Action Hit To Open Garden Run Today

Hailed as one of the greatest action dramas of all time, Columbia's "Escape To Glory" opens today at the Garden theater with Pat O'Brien and Constance Bennett co-starred. A thrill-laden story of adventure, of love and cowardice, glory and vengeance, disaster and escape, the new film's cast includes John Halliday, Melville Cooper and Alan Baxter.

Also on the Garden program is Frank Capra's production of "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town", brought back by popular request. Gary Cooper and Jean Arthur are starred.

Colorful Fiestas Mark Tarzan Film

December is the season for many fiestas in Guatemala, and one of the gayest is the Fiesta of Gaudalupe, according to Major Frank Baker, who, during his location trip to Central America as a member of the New Adventures of Tarzan company, has gathered much interesting information about the country.

The most striking feature of the Gaudalupe celebration, Major Baker says, is the Devil Dance—not only because of the rythmic fascination of the dancers' movements, but because of the picturesque costumes they wear. Many of these costumes are elaborate and beautifully made garments of red and blue velvet, lavishly decorated with spangles and embroidery. With these, the dancers wear devil masks with horns. Many of these are hideous but all are cleverly constructed.

The particular Devil Dance which Major Baker saw, took place in the Gautemalan town of San Cristobal, and will be shown in full in "The New Adventures of Tarzan" when this new Edgar Rice Burroughs feature is released.

"The New Adventures of Tarzan" is appearing today only at the Embassy theater.

Oilskin Bags For Travel Kits

Zippered oilskin bags come in assorted sizes and they make handy containers for holding small articles for motor travel. They are especially convenient hen some of the travelers are youngsters.

Fill a bag with first aid equipment—salves for cuts, bruises, skinned knees and bee stings, small rolls of bandages, tape for cut fingers and powder for sunburn. In another put comb, sun glasses, gum, washcloth, paper towels, drinking cups and small toys. Keep these bags in a spot in the car that can be quickly reached.

$287,000,000 Defense Highway Bill Is Passed by Senate

WASHINGTON, July 22 (AP)—The House passed a $287,000,000 defense highway bill on a voice vote yesterday and sent it back to the Senate for consideration of amendments.

Rep. Mott (R-Oregon) said the measure was "an initial step" in a program to cost "upwards of a billion dollars." It authorizes the following:

> $100,000,000 to correct critical deficiencies in strategic highways and bridges; $150,000,000 to provide access roads from highways to army and navy reservations, defense plants and sources of raw materials; $25,000,000 to repair highways substantially damaged by the army and navy; $2,000,000 for construction of experimental flight strips on highways; and $10,000,000 for surveys and plans.

Religious Cult Is Sued by Girl on Morals Charge

LOS ANGELES, July 22 (AP) — A jury has been selected to hear a dark-haired, 18-year-old girl's charge that she was raped at the age of 11 in a cult meeting, the experience leaving her morose, sullen and shy in her association with girls and boys her own age.

The plaintiff is Irma Webber, who asks $1,000,000 from the reorganized Mazdaznan Temple Association of Associates of God. Henry Sorge, 32, a mining operator, was named a defendant and accused of attacking the girl as she lay in bed awaiting instruction on breathing and other physical exercises which she said she was told were necessary to understanding the cult's teachings.

The complaint alleges that Sorge was a disciple of the late Otoman Zar-Adusht Ha'Nish, Mazdaznan high priest, and acted under the latter's orders. Also listed as defendants are 20,000 unnamed members of the cult.

Testimony taking was delayed while attorneys argued whether the complaint states a legal cause of action. The judge promised a decision tomorrow.

Advice to

she saw a list of gift suggestions made up by you suitable for soldiers in camp. I'm not in love with this drafted boy but I've known him for two years, and we've had a very pleasant acquaintance. He worked in a chain store near my home and we have met at church affairs. He has brought me home two or three times.

I would prefer to write to him rather than send him a gift. Shall I call him by his first name or say "Dear Mr. so-and-so?" And I'd like to have you recommend a good, inexpensive book on the subject of letter-writing. While I've had a high school education, I'm often puzzled about writing letters.

MARY.

It depends entirely on you whether you call this young draftee by his first name. There are a good many excellent books on the subject of writing letters. You can send me a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope for my leaflet of suggestions of things to send to boys in camp.

Doesn't Want To Break

Dear Miss Fairfax:

After having been engaged to a young man for six months (I had no ring) he left me for another girl. Of course, I was terribly upset over it, but soon became interested in another young man who has been taking me out for the past year. He is eight years my senior, but has never mentioned marriage.

Now my first boy friend has come back and wants to be reinstated in my good graces, saying he's sorry for the way he treated me. But my mother doesn't think I should take him seriously, as he may leave me again when some other girl comes along.

I still think a great deal of him and would like to give him another trial. But I don't care to be mean to the older man, as he was jilted by a girl once before. Which one of these do you think would be the best choice?

IN DOUBT.

I suggest you keep on going with both the young men, as you're not engaged to either. You haven't given me your age. If you're only about 18 or 19, it is much better for you to have several friends than to consider yourself bound to one, while the young man evidently considers himself free.

I think it would be more prudent, all things considered, if you do not take too seriously the young man who broke his engagement to you once before.

Tired of Pursuit

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've just finished re-reading Robert Louis Stevenson's "Virginibus Purisque," in which he says if someone takes the peach you've had your eye on before the dish gets 'round to you, you pick out the next one that strikes your fancy.

This is my case exactly. I've been languishing over a particular peach ever since I left college. I'm in the draft now and think it more than likely I shall not serve beyond this year. Frankly, I'd like to settle down with some other peach as my wife, though I haven't met her up to the present time.

J. W. L.

You're very sensible not to waste your youth and chances of a normal happy life on so unresponsive a girl as you describe. Solace yourself with the old adage: "If she be not fair for me, what care I how fair she be?" Let the indifferent peach do the worrying. When you drop out of her life, like thousands of other girls, she'll probably decide, "I never knew I loved him 'til I lost him."

The inoculations will be given again tomorrow evening at the Community building from 7 to 9 o'clock. ## Parking Problem In Petersburg Is Discussed

Merchants Are Urged Not to Park Cars in Business Section

PETERSBURG, W. Va., July 22—At a recent meeting of the town council the parking problem in Petersburg was discussed. Discussed first by members of the council was the over crowded condition of the parking space in the center of town, causing strangers difficulty in finding space to park.

Mayor K. C. VanMeter, Jr. states that a strict enforcement of traffic laws would no doubt "break down the atmosphere of informal hospitality which we believe to be one of our strongest assets," and perhaps a gentler approach would be the answer. The following suggestions were made:

That our people who live in town refrain, except when necessary, from driving to the business section and parking their cars in the evenings and on Saturday afternoons. That our business and professional men (doctors excepted) refrain from parking their cars in the business section during the day, and thus provide more space for your customers and clients. That garage owners and dealers refrain from parking their stock cars on the streets at any time.

Norwegians World over Contribute Funds To Fight Nazi Conquerors; Thousands Serve in Allied Forces

By DAVID VELIE
Central Press Correspondent

MADISON, Wis., July 22 — The adventurous Viking spirit that years ago molded Norway and Sweden into two of the toughest nations of Europe is at work again these days in the struggle being waged by Norwegians inside and out of Norway against the Axis powers.

It is a world-wide struggle reaching even into the United States, where a corps of Norwegian speakers headed by Theodor Broch, former mayor of war-torn Narvik, is touring the nation in the interest of raising funds for Norwegian relief.

Approximately 1,000 pilots are members of the Royal Air Force, and more are being trained at Toronto, Ont., Broch said in an interview here. Some 30,000 Norwegian sailors are sailing under the Allied flags, and hundreds of Norwegian men are escaping from their homeland to join the British army, he added.

Broch, a blue-eyed, 37-year-old Norwegian, twice sentenced to death by the Nazis, is typical of the Norwegians engaged in a desperate struggle against the Axis powers.

For the past nine months, all over the United States, Broch has been speaking to audiences on the plight of his native land since its invasion in April, 1940, by the Germans.

Campaign Successful

His talks, given in a somewhat broken English, but withal studded with the zeal of a man working for the liberation of his country, have struck a responsive note amongst his American listeners, especially among Americans of Norwegian descent. Broch and his fellow Norwegians have been successful in raising many thousands of dollars for Norwegian relief.

There are approximately 1,000,000 persons in the United States who are of Norwegian extraction, Broch explained, and many of these persons have been active in assisting this campaign. For example, in Wisconsin and Minnesota, where there are large Norwegian settlements, voluntary drives were started shortly after Norway's fall to lend assistance to the Norwegians.

The first thing that is being done to aid the Norwegians in this campaign is to send funds to Sweden for shipment of ready-made houses from there into Norway, Broch explained.

"There were 20 of our cities completely destroyed by the German invasion," Broch said. "That left many of our citizens homeless, and the first thing we want to do is to provide them with the shelter they so badly need."

The next objective in aiding Norwegian residents is to ship food, said the former Narvik mayor. Food is scarce in Norway, and what food is available is priced high, he stated, because the Germans carried away much of Norway's food supply, leaving the Norwegian people in a precarious condition.

Norway Will be Free

Despite the many Allied defeats and the firm grip retained by Germany over Norway, there is little doubt among Norwegians that their land eventually will be free.

"If Great Britain wins this war, our nation will be free immediately," said Broch. "If Germany wins, we, of course, will have the Nazi yoke around our necks, but eventually we must become free. Germany just cannot assimilate all Norway. The Norwegians love liberty too much to let Germany assimilate them."

While Norwegian airplane pilots, sailors and soldiers and speakers co-ordinate their activities in their world-wide effort against the Axis, their brethren in Norway are not sitting idly by.

A report just received by Broch from Norway is that German prisons in northern Norway are filled to overflowing because a large munitions depot was blown up one night, apparently an act of sabotage by the Norwegians.

Narrow Escapes

Such acts of sabotage have been repeated many times, according to information the Norwegian government has received, with the result that German authorities have taken stern repressive measures.

A forceful, convincing man, with a deep concern for the future of his land, Broch has had his life turned topsy turvy by the German invasion of Norway.

Mayor of the city of Narvik for eight years, he saw that prosperous seaport town laid waste by the German invasion. He was twice condemned to death by the German invaders. On April 13, 1940, when the great sea battle between the German fleet and the Norwegian and English fleets was waged at Narvik, he was arrested and given a death sentence because he had removed the personnel of the Narvik telephone and telegraph stations, making them useless for the Germans.

The Narvik city council petitioned the German authorities for suspension of the sentence because Broch was badly needed in administration of civic affairs. He was subsequently set free on parole.

When the Allies abandoned Narvik in the middle of June, 1940, Broch was again arrested and was to have been shot, but made a daring escape from his German captors. He hid in a small boat lying in the harbor of Narvik and then fled to the mountains. He went to Sweden, evaded internment, and from there went to Russia, Siberia and Japan, entering the United States by way of San Francisco.

In his escape, he was aided by the former United States minister of Norway, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman. His wife and daughter came to the United States in April of this year.

Former Mayor Theodore Broch of Narvik, Norway, as he escaped Nazi invaders and as he is today, inset.

String Saver for 20 Years Makes It a Defense Project

Leo E. Busser and hobby

RICHMOND, Va. — Leo E. Busser, 86, is possessor of a ball of string that measures 5 feet 6 inches in circumference. Now he intends to allow his neighbors to guess — for a price the length of the string and the number of pieces he has tied together during the 20 years he's been at it. Proceeds will be turned over to the United Service Organizations.

Why does a string saver save string?

"There's a certain fascination that makes you want to keep working at it," Busser says. "Often I have worked 16 hours a day, untying puzzling knots, unraveling strands of cord into smaller strings, retying them and winding them onto my collection. If I had to work at a job that long I guess I'd be complaining."

Pledges Co-operation

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—A government appeal to the nation's railroads for the transfer of 100,000 skilled workers to defense industries brought a quick promise of co-operation today from railroad executives and union leaders.

Eli Oliver, labor adviser from the Office of Production Management, held a series of exploratory conferences and reported the willingness of both sides to assist.

Further conferences are expected, he said, and leaders for management and labor "will now look into the definite questions involved," which include the availability of men with the necessary defense skills, and the problem of spreading their railroad work among fewer employes.

United States, as well as in other parts of the world."

(The United States Senate blocked American entry into the League in 1920).

It failed also, he continued, "because of its utilization by certain powers primarily to advance their own political and commercial ambitions."

But he declared with emphasis that the League "failed chiefly because of the fact that it was forced to operate, by those who dominated its councils, as a means of maintaining the status quo."

"It was never enabled to operate," Welles said, "as its chief spokesman had intended, as an elastic and impartial instrument in bringing about peaceful and equitable adjustments between nations as time and circumstances proved necessary."

Welles said that "some instrumentality must unquestionably be found to achieve such adjustments when the nations of the earth again undertake the task of restoring law and order to a disastrously shaken world."

Whatever the mechanism, Welles said he was "unalterably convinced" of two things:

"First, that the abolition of offensive armaments and the limitation and reduction of defensive armaments and of the tools which make the construction of such armaments possible, can only be undertaken through some rigid form of international supervision and control, and that without such practical and essential control, no real disarmament can ever be achieved.

Ask Peace Based on Justice

"Second, that no peace which may be made in the future would be valid or lasting unless it established fully and adequately the natural rights of all peoples to equal economic enjoyment. So long as any one people or any one government possesses a monoploy over natural resources or raw material which are needed by all peoples, there can be no basis for a world order based on justice and on peace."

Welles declared he could not "believe that peoples of good will will not once more strive to realize the great ideal of an association of nations through which the freedom, the happiness and the security of all peoples may be achieved."

The word "security," he said, "represents the end upon which the hearts of men and women everywhere today are set." And he continued:

"Whether it be security from bombing from the air, or from mass destruction; whether it be security from want, disease and starvation; whether it be seccurity in enjoying that inalienable right which every human being should possess of living out his life in peace and happiness, people throughout the length and breadth of the world are demanding security, and freedom from fear.

"That is the objective before us all today—to try and find the means of bringing that to pass."

NEW YORK, July 22 (AP)—Turkish anti-aircraft batteries shot down a German plane apparently reconnoitering near the Thrace border with Greece and Bulgaria, the NBC correspondent in Ankara reported tonight. The three German crew members were killed.

Road Bids Opened

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP) — The state roads commission today opened bids on almost $143,000 worth of highway construction, involving two projects in Montgomery and Worcester counties.

British Bombers Attack Shipyards

LONDON, July 22 (AP)—British bombers sweeping almost unhindered over northern France today attacked shipbuilding yards near the mouth of the Seine river and their escorting Polish fighters shot down four Nazi planes.

British fighter pilots said two large flights of Messerschmitts encountered over France veered away and refused to give battle.

"It was all very beautiful with the Seine 10,000 feet below," one fighter pilot said. "We had an empty sky and we don't like empty sky."

The Polish pilots machine-gunned German airdromes, hangars, and grounded planes, attacked a ship off the coast, and claimed a direct hit on one coastal anti-aircraft battery in addition to destroying four German fighters.

Three British fighter planes were missing from the daylight operations, and one plane failed to return from heavy overnight attacks on objectives in Western Germany, Denmark, The Netherlands, and Belgium.

Neutral military observers in Shanghai said that were skeptical of the origin of the Japanese report, which was datelined Hongkong. Declaring they doubted that the British censor at Hongkong would pass such a story, they suggested that there might be a similarity between the report and German accusations of British intentions before the invasions of Scandinavia and the Lowlands.

In Vichy, the capital of unoccupied France, authorized sources declared negotiations on Indo-China were under way between France and Japan. This developed as the pro-German newspaper Les Nouveaux Temps was saying France was in critical danger of losing Indo-China unless it worked with Japan for its protection.

A Japanese Army spokesman in Shanghai acknowledged that Japanese reservists living in China had been called for duty, but he said the move was merely for training.

Large Scale Mobilization

A British radio broadcast heard in New York said reports of large scale mobilization throughout Japan and requisitioning of horses and motor trucks indicated "big developments are imminent."

In London an authorized British source said reports that Japan was making demands on Indo-China were disturbing, noting that assurances given Britain last month that Japan had no territorial demands on Indo-China were rendered by Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka, who since has been removed from the government.

British sources in Singapore, expressing surprise over Japanese reports that the British were preparing to invade Indo-China, said the reports "possibly are being circulated to pave the way for Japanese action."

"An attempt may be made to justify Japanese demands on Indo-China by the bogey of British intervention," these sources said.

behalf of a "fair peace" once Hitler and "the satellites who surrounded him" were removed.

Dedicating a cornerstone of a new wing at the Norwegian legation, Welles described "the great ideal" for which he said all people of good will should now be striving.

The broad objective he outlined bore close resemblance to some of the famous "fourteen points" of Woodrow Wilson which were considered a major factor in promoting peace sentiment among the German people in the last war.

Like Wilson, Welles advocated an "association of nations"—such a league of nations as Wilson conceived but not as it finally operated, as "a means of maintaining the status quo."

The "V" Campaign

Welles called for abolition of "offensive armaments" and a reduction and limitation of "defensive armaments" with some rigid form of international supervision.

The other major point he stressed was equal economic enjoyment, fair access of all nations to the world's natural resources and raw materials.

The Welles declaration came as the British claimed success for their "V for Victory" propaganda campaign, clearly intended to stir uprisings in Nazi-controlled countries. An organization of V clubs of America also has just been formed and its president, William V. C. Ruxton, said in New York that as an auxiliary of the British-American ambulance corps, it had the approval of the state department.

The women's account said they were using their last signal when the destroyer responded to their call.

The destroyer took them to Iceland, and they later were transferred to the Navy transport for the voyage home.

Shortly after the sinking of the ship, six men and the four girls were transferred to the captain's boat, which then carried fourteen persons. The other six persons remained in the first boat.

Disappointment came after disappointment for the weather-beaten drifters. The day of the sinking, they sighted another convoy, but distress rockets went unsighted. The nurses said they saw the submarine come to the surface again later that day, but it paid them no heed.

"For two days we drifted around in apparent calm," the story continued. "Then the third day a breeze sprang up and we set sail in the hope to make Greenland. . . . from this time on the sea was rough and it rained much of the time, and we were continuously tacking."

Japan Is Reported "Ready for Action"

LONDON, Wednesday, July 23. (AP) — Vernon Bartlett, Independent member of Parliament, said today that information reaching London indicated Japan was "likely to take action to obtain control of Camranh bay and other naval and air bases in French Indo-China before the end of this week."

Bartlett's prediction was in an article under his name in the London News Chronicle.

He said that "sinister significance" was attached to the fact that the government of Thailand was "quite wrongly alleged by the Japanese to be coming under Anglo-American control and that De-Gaullists—equally wrongly — were alleged to be unduly influential in Singapore."

He added that he believed British-American discussions ended in complete agreement as to steps to be taken should Japan move southward.

Yankees Overpower Feller To Whip Indians

Victory Boosts Bombers' Margin To Eight Games

Rapid Robert Yields to Strain of Carrying Too Big a Load

By JUDSON BAILEY

NEW YORK, July 22 —The rampant New York Yankees overpowered Bob Feller today and edged out the Cleveland Indians 4 to 3 to virtually destroy the last obstruction between them and another Ameriacn League pennant.

Before a crowd of 45,227, the great righthander made a noble effort to stem the tide that already had engulfed all other rivals. But he was manhandled in the early innings, and instead of gaining his Twentieth victory, suffered his fifth defeat of the season.

It was New York's thirty-fifth triumph in its last forty-one games and the tenth in fourteen tussles with the Tribe this year. As a result the Yanks increased their first place margin to an apparently impregnable eight games.

Gordon Poles Homer

Feller labored as though he realized that the hopes of the entire league for halting the parade of the Yankees rested on his shoulders. But he yielded to the strain of carrying too big a load. His fast ball did not look as fast, and his curves frequently did not break.

He walked two men in succession in the first inning, the second on four straight balls. In the second Joe Gordon smashed a terrific home run, his sixteenth of the year, into the third tier of Yankee stadium's left field stands.

In the third Tom Henrich opened with a walk. Joe DiMaggio singled and Charley Keller doubled against the centerfield wall, 410 feet away. Henrich scored and DiMaggio held third, coming home later on Gordon's fly.

Donald's Fifth Victory

Another walk to Johnny Sturm opened the fourth and he came around on a sacrifice and a double by DiMaggio.

After that Feller tightened up to allow only one other hit for a total of seven, but it was too late. He struck out four men.

Donald held the Tribe to six hits in getting his fifth victory of the season and third over Cleveland.

In the fourth he hit Jeff Heath with a pitch, Clarence Campbell doubled and Oscar Grimes scored both with a single. Then in the eighth Campbell smacked his second homer of the year for Cleveland's other run. The boxscore:

Pirates Capture Tight Game, 4-3

Klinger Beats Phillies after Relieving Dietz in Second Frame

PITTSBURGH, July 22. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates opened a home stand today by nosing out the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, in a game which developed into a tight pitchers' battle after starting out as a free-swinging contest.

Neither Johnny Podgajny, who started for the Phils, nor Lloyd Dietz, who made his starting debut for the Pirates, were around long.

Dietz was relieved in the second by Bob Klinger who shook off a two-run Philly rally in the third and went on to victory. The Bucs chased Podgajny in a three-run first inning and Ike Pearson relieved him. The boxscore:

Bel Air's Race Session Slated To Start Today

Eight Races Will Be Run Daily with Post Time at 2 o'Clock

BEL AIR, Md., July 22 (AP) —A full field of eighty horses will go to the post tomorrow in the opening card of the ten-day meeting of the Harford County Fair Association.

Actually 341 thoroughbreds were named overnight but each of the seven flat races and the one steeplechase is limited to ten starters. Racing Secretary Eddie Brennan said runners unable to compete would be given preference in future offerings.

A field of twelve leading campaigners has been named for the feature, the $1,000 Bel Air Inaugural which will be run over the Bel Air course, a seven-furlong route.

Knollwood stable's Tony Steel, an invader from the major tracks where he enjoyed little success this year but took five consecutive victories last season should stand out. Weatherite and Fair Hero, also invaders from the big apple where they have turned in winning performances, should provide top competition.

They will oppose Pompey's Folly, which did well at other minor tracks; Blustering, Joe D.; Fold Under; Stockton; Miss Buzzard; Blue Covert; Royal Business and War Skipper. Royal Business carries top weight of 113 with Tony Steel and Joe D. at 111 in this race for three-year-olds and up.

Secondary feature tomorrow is the $600 Kenmore steeplechase. The jumpers will be run third each day.

1,200 Horses on Hand

Willie Kelly and Sammy Palumbo who staged the red hot battle for the riding honors during the summer's sport at Charles Town, W. Va., will resume hostilities during this season. Kelly rested up during the Hagerstown meeting, while Palumbo kept right on piloting winners.

There are over 1200 horses in this sector, whose owners are anxious to strive for purses. Close to 600 thoroughbreds are occupying stalls here with the remainder quartered at the Pimlico and Timonium tracks. Among them are numerous winners this summer at Delaware Park, Suffolk, Jamaica, Pimlico, Hialeah, Narragansett, Bowie, Havre de Grace and Charles Town. Post time is 2 p. m. (E. D.T.)

Steeplechase Daily

Steeplechasing will be a daily feature of the meeting. Prominent jumpers from every section of the country, including Le Passadau, holder of the old two-mile mark of 4.18 2-5, are on the grounds. Miss Judy Johnson, one of the few women trainers in America, is here with the jumpers of T. T. Mott, prominent Washingtonian.

Following the sport here, the thoroughbred colony will move up to Cumberland where President Harry A. Manley of the Cumberland Fair Association will usher in Maryland's fall season August 5. Cumberland's ten-day meeting will be followed by a session of similiar duration at Marlboro, where General Manager Joseph A. Farrell of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association will start the ball rolling August 20.

Bucs' Bridegroom One of League's Topnotch Hurlers

Heintzelman Changed from Erratic Boxman to Effective Twirler

By DUKE MORAN

PITTSBURGH, July 22 (AP)—The magic of matrimony has transformed Bridegroom Kenny Heintzelman from an erratic portsider into one of the most effective young pitchers in the National League.

At least the 24-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate southpaw said today he thinks of pitching as a family man "had something to do" with a string of five consecutive victories he had notched since he became a Benedict last May 24.

Two days before the wedding Kenny essayed a start against the Boston Braves and failed to last out the first inning. Maybe it was "bridegroom jitters" but:

"I didn't get a man out," Kenny said, smiling. "Now—"

"I want Ken to win 'em all," interrpted his new "boss," the former Miss Pearl Boenker, 22, of St. Charles, Mo.

So far Kenny has done all right at the chore his bride has assigned him. He has shut out New York, stopped St. Louis and Cincinnati and mowed down those tough Brooklyns for a sweep of the National's first division clubs.

"I guess home cooking and the responsibility of putting more pork chops in the pantry had something to do with my streak," the qquqiet young pitcher admitted gallantly while his bride nodded vigorous assent.

His high, hard one, a curve he describes as "an overhander" and a change of pace might have helped also—but you can't expect a bridegroom to remember such mundane things.

Ernie Lombardi Example of Reds' Baseball Decline

Dick West Gets Break as Veteran Is Eased into the No. 2 Spot

NEW YORK, July 22 (The Special News Service)—Flatwheeled, phlegmatic Ernie Lombardi has been eased back gently to the No. 2 spot among the catchers of our current bitter disappointment, the Cincinnati Reds. Whether this related move of Bill McKechnie to do something about his fading champions will be beneficial or not is problematical.

Not that Lombardi has been to blame for the stirring march to the rear. He's no more to blame than a dozen other fellows who suddenly became allergic to hitting.

But he can be taken as a fair example of the composite reasons the club is riding back there in the day coaches. If the Reds hadn't been getting some pretty fair pitching, on the whole, you wouldn't be able to find them with a bloodhound by now.

In 1938 Lombardi led the National League in hitting and was voted the most valuable player. Today he is hitting a robust .230, and, his speed considered, probably would be voted the most valuable to the other teams.

Once Beat Out Bunt

For the big catcher's value was his hitting, granting that he is also better than average at handling pitchers. He's prooably about the slowest man afoot who ever played baseball, and every time he runs he's liable to dig a post hole with his spikes, he stays so long in one place.

Perhaps the highlight of his career, from his standpoint, was a day in Brooklyn last year when he beat out a bunt, and if it hadn't been in Brooklyn, where anything can happen, there probably would have been an investigation. The best explanation is that the Dodger infielders fainted from surprise.

Anyway, here's the best man in the league in 1938 hitting .230 today and understudying another catcher, and that rapid decline is an example of the decline of the team as a whole.

He watched Lombardi this spring. He reported with an ankle still swollen from an injury suffered late last season. He apparently had done nothing through the winter to heal the injury, and we thought at the time he was starting the 1941 season with two strikes on him.

West Gets Chance

However, it has turned out that it hasn't been his ankle that is responsible for his play, but his stickwork.

The Reds had another catcher down at Tampa, a young fellow named Dick West, who had appeared with the club late in the season for a couple of games, and who as a minor leaguer had taken a whirl at about every position. When Rogers Hornsby had him at Chattonooga and Baltimore, the Rajah was convinced the youngster would make the grade as a pitcher.

He's a tall, handsome lad, fast for his size and a power hitter. He's developing rapidly in the handling of pitchers. When he and the sensational Elmer Riddle team up they form probably the youngest battery in the big show. Each is 23.

West is the No. 1 man right now on a team which most people thought also would No. 1. The club has flopped, but that's a break from West's standpoint. It's given him his chance.

Gallant Fox Still Obstacle in Path Of Whirlaway's Claims as Turf King

By JOHN LARDNER

NEW YORK, July 22—A running horse is in his heyday as a three-year-old, and Whirlaway has it in his power to become the richest and royalest three-year-old in history.

The Whirler is more than just a strong little horse with a long tail. He is capable—and he may prove it again this weekend in Chicago's Arlington Classic—of turning on the kind of prolonged, breathless, bounding speed that marked the running of Man O' War and Johnstown, who were, in your correspondent's bashful opinion, the two fastest race horses ever saddled.

Man O' War left records in the book to prove his worth. Johnstown enjoyed his full powers for only a few fleeting weeks, yet in those weeks, from his three-year-old debut through his kingley run in the Kentucky Derby, I never saw a horse that drew away from a fast field with so little effort and carried his speed so easily over a distance.

However, it is not Johnstown the Whirler has to beat, nor Man O' War, to become the leader of history's three-year-olds. Another horse holds that title, and Whirlaway, though he has matched him stride for stride and hurdle up till now, must still go a long way to tie Gallant Fox—the Fox of Belair.

Whirler One Up on Fox

Whirlaway this year has won the Derby, the Preakness, the Belmont stakes, and the Dwyer. So did the Fox eleven years ago, and he threw in the Wood Memorial for good measure.

Whirlaway now goes into the Arlington Classic. If he runs his best, he should win it easily. The Fox took the Classic in stride and went on to win four other major races the same year. In that one clistering season he captured $320,000 in prizes, including three cups worth $12,500.

No one likes to knock a horse like Whirlaway, and Mr. Sunny James Fitzsimmons, who trained the Fox of Belair, was doing no knocking the other day as he turned the leaves of his mellow memory—but he was conceding nothing, either.

"The Fox was quite a horse that year," said Sunny James. "He broke their hearts. There was nothing that came close to him, except one time that I would rather forget. Whirlaway, now, comes from behind like he was shot from a gun, on his good days. That wasn't quite Gallant Fox's style. He punished them all the way around.

"I don't think there was ever a horse as consistent as the Fox was that year, except maybe Man O' War. All you can say, if Whirlaway goes on and wins the races the Fox won, is that he's a great horse too."

Fox's Record Impressive

From the collected works of Dr. Francis G. Menke, the horse historian, I cull Gallan Fox's record for 1930:

Wood Memorial, one mile and seventy yards, won $10,150.

Preakness, one mile and three sixteenth, won $51,925.

Kentucky Derby, one mile and one fourth, won $50,725.

Belmont Stakes, one mile and one-half, won $66,040.

Dwyer, one mile and one-half, won $11,500.

Arlington Classic, one mile and one-fourth, won $64,750.

Travers, one mile and one-fourth, won $4,000 (second money).

Saratoga Cup, one mile and three-fourths, won $9,275.

Lawrence Realization, one-mile and five-sixteenth, won $29,610.

Jockey Club Gold Cup, two-miles, won $10,300.

In the two seasons he raced, the Fox coined money at the rate of $10,000 a racing minute, or $16,500 a mile.

There was, of course, that sad day in the Travers, in the Saratoga mud, when Jim Dandy, 100 to 1, beat the Fox to the finish. That's a place where Whirlaway can improve on Gallant Fox's record, though the Whirler himself has lost more than one race this year. Man O' War, in his greatest year, was beaten by Upset.

Whirlaway has been guilty of inconsistency—but not lately. From the time he walked to the post for the Derby last May, he has run truly and relentlessly, and if he keeps up the same true, relentless running from here on in, the Fox of Belair will have to move over.—North American Newspaper Alliance.

Coach's Condition Is Reported Grave

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—Physicians at University hospital described as grave today the condition of Coleman Headley, 26, University of Maryland track coach shot in a Washington boulevard tavern altercation Sunday night.

Headley, wounded in the chest, was given two blood transfusions during an operation to clean the wound yesterday and physicians said they were prepared to give a third if he did not improve. His condition was complicated by peritonitis.

The bullet, which penetrated the stomach and lodged in a muscle near the spine, was not removed.

Police said Headley was shot in an argument between his friend, John E. Cullen, Jr., and Guy Constanene, proprietor of a tavern at Dorsey. Constanene was charged with the shooting and held at Ellicott City.

Reds' Five Runs in Ninth Beat Dodgers 5 to 4

Brooklyn Loses Exclusive Hold On First Place

Hamlin, with Shutout in Grasp, Driven from Peak in Final Frame

CINCINNATI, July 22 (AP)—The collapsing Brooklyn Dodgers dropped their fifth game in six starts today and lost their exclusive hold on the National League lead as the Cincinnati Reds rallied for five runs in the ninth inning and won 5 to 4.

Luke Hamlin had a shutout within his grasp going into the final frame, only to have Lonnie Frey open with a double. Then Frank McCormick singled for one run and Bill Weber walked.

Hamlin made two more wide pitches to Dick West and then was waved off the mound in favor of Hugh Casey, who completed the job of walking West and filling the bases.

Chuck Aleno, pinchhitting for Harry Craft, appeared to pull his bat back after starting to swing at a pitch. But he hit the ball and it sailed along the rightfield foul line, scoring three runs and tying the score.

At this point Bucky Walters, who had held the Dodgers to eight hits, came to the plate and drove a fly to centerfield to score Lloyd Waner, who ran for Aleno, and gain his twelfth victory of the season.

The Dodgers had loaded the bases in the second on singles by Hamlin and Pewee Reese and a walk to Billy Herman.

Pete Reiser singled with the bases loaded for two Brooklyn runs in the third and added two more for an apparently secure margin in the eighth when Eddie Joost fumbled a grounder by Peewee Reese and Dixie Walker and Cookie Lavagetto followed with doubles. The box-score:

The Wilkinson Grocers, first half champions of the Allegany County Softball League, pulled up on even terms with the Potomac Valley Cubs in the home stretch dash yesterday when they stopped the Bruins by a 10-2 margin on the losers' field.

Home runs played a big part in the Grocers' victory with Helmick hitting the distance in the first with two aboard and George duplicating in the seventh with one aboard. Brown had four of Wilkinson's thirteen blows while Grimes accounted for two of Potomac Valley's six bingles.

Manager Mike Armstrong of the Cubs announced that the game was played by Potomac Valley under protest after the fourth inning. Armstrong said that Grimes hit the first pitch for a homer and after he had crossed the plate, the umpire ruled it no play, saying he wasn't in position.

The LaVale A. A. tightened its hold on the third-place slot by whipping Allegany Grove on the winners' diamond 8-3. LaVale had a total of ten hits with W. Blank and D. Blank each getting two. B. Keyser had three safeties in as many tries for the Grove. Double plays in the first and second frames by LaVale retired the side.

Narrows Park won by forfeit over Hyndman while no report was received on the game scheduled between Celanese Local 1874 and City A. C. on the latter's field. The scores:

Bettina Awarded Nod over Burman In 10-Round Bout

Southpaw Style of Ex-Light-Heavy Champ Too Much for Readhead

BROOKLYN, July 22 (AP) — The southpaw style of Mello Bettina was too puzzling for Red Burman to solve tonight and the former light-heavyweight champion punched out a ten-round decision over the Baltimore redhead before a crowd of 10,167 in Ebbets field. Bettina weighed 186¼; Burman, 189½.

In this home ball park of the Brooklyn Dodgers, where just about erything did in this tough tussle. erything did in this stough tussle.

There was one moment, in the fourth round, when both fighters fell out of the ring. There was another, in the eighth, when Burman, unable to do anything using an orthodox stance, switched to a southpaw style and for a couple of minutes had Melio on the run.

Lefts Stagger Burman

And finally, you had the somewhat startling picture of Burman, whose chin Louis couldn't dent with his Sunday shots, twice being staggered by Bettina's left hand pokes, which hitherto never had been regarded as needing a sign warning the unwary of high explosive content.

All in all, however, it was an important, and upset triumph for the determined little Italian from Beacon, N. Y., who quit the light-heavyweight ranks nearly a year ago to campaign among the big boys.

The Associated Press score card gave Melio eight rounds and Burman two.

Keynote of the whole fight was the fact that Burman just didn't "savvy" what to do with a south-paw pegging at him.

As a result Bettina started banging him with left swings as early as the first round and kept right on pitching them through the tenth, although Red was the aggressor for the most part and Melio did his damage backing off.

Both Fall Through Ropes

In the second Burman was hurt by a left, but Melio was unable to do more than shake him up, despite a desperate flurry as he tried for a knockout. In the fourth, Burman looked a little better until both fell through the ropes onto the apron of the ring as they were locked in a half clinch.

After that, Red woke up only in the eighth, when he tried the south-paw stance himself. But it wasn't natural for him, and after a couple of minutes he was back using the orthodox style without even realizing he had switched. In the tenth, Red was staggered again with lefts.

There were no official knock-downs, but Burman right eye was scraped in the third and the bridge of his nose was cut in the fourth. Melio's left eye was sliced in the seventh.

The gross gate was announced as $20,409.

Frankie Parker Has Close Call In Net Tourney

Seeded Stars Advance to Third Round of Sea Bright Event

SEA BRIGHT, N. J., July 22(AP)—Frankie Parker, the clay court master, almost missed the boat today as the seeded stars coasted into the third round of the fifty-fourth annual Sea Bright invitation tennis tournament.

Winner of eight out of nine clay court tournaments,the third-seeded Parker found hmiself on grass for the first time this year, and the change forced him to go all out for a three-set victory over Edwin G. Amark, of San Francisco, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

The other seeded performers in the men's field scarcely had to draw a deep brath in going through the second round, which saw only such minor upsets as the eliminations of the former Irish Davis cupper, George Lyttleton-Rogers, and the veterans Frank Shields of New York and Gene Mako of Los Angeles.

McNeill Impressive

Top-seeded Don McNeill, the national champion, made an impressive tournament debut by polishing off off Robert Kerdasha of Clinton, S. C., 6-3, 6-0. Second-seeded Bobby Riggs, the defending tournament titlist, won easily over William Canning of Hidden Valley, Calif., seeded fourth, trounced Henry Batjer of Dallas, 6-1, 6-1, to join Parker in the third round.

Mako fell before Seymour Greenberg of Chicago 6-2, 6-3; Shields bowed to William Crosby of Oakland, Calif., 7-5, 6-3, and Lyttleton-Rogers went down 6-1, 6-2 before Joe Fishback of New York.

Woman Star Upset

Second round competition in the women's division produced the tournament's first major upset as Virginia Wolfenden, the fourth-seeded star, from San Francisco, was eliminated by Mrs. Millicent Hirsch Lang, of New York, in a two-hour battle, 6-4, 1-6, 10-8.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke, New York, encountered some resistance from Jane Stanton, of Los Angeles, before winning, 6-1, 7-5. Helen Jacobs outclassed Shirley Catton of Alameda, Calif., in straight love sets and Dorothy May Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., seeded third, trimmed Mrs. Helen Rhibany of Stamford, Conn., 6-1, 6-1.

Challedon To Rest On Pacific Coast

LOS ANGELES, July 22 (AP) — Challedon is going to forget about racing for awhile and go swimming in the Pacific.

Owner William L. Brann of Maryland said today the ex-stake champion would be sent to Harry Unna's Surf-Side ranch near San Diego this week.

There is nothing wrong with Challedon, he added, that a good rest wouldn't correct. No decision has been made about winter racing plans, but Brann made it clear the big Marylander was not going into permanent retirement.

GRANTLAND RICE

The Top Fighter

In a world that seems to be pretty largely at war, especially on the mechanized side, the matter of fighting takes on an extra tone.

Leaving out the mechanized side which is the complete measure of modern war, but not the measure of human skill and courage, Frank Buck, the wild animal man who brings 'em back alive, introduces a highly patriotic note.

According to Mr. Buck, the North American continent has the greatest fighting animal in the world, barring only the elephant, the all-time tank which is too big for competition. The top fighter of this continent isn't Joe Louis, Billy Conn or Lou Nova. The three of them together couldn't last two minutes against Gargantua, the gorilla. "You can cut that down to about sixty-five seconds," Mr. Buck says, "and throw in both Tunney and Dempsey.

"But outside of the elephant, who is just too big, I'll name the big Alaskan brown bear as the one to beat. I'll put my money on him against any other starter, barring the one I named."

Starting an Argument

Apparently, the North American continent has been entirely too modest in its claims. This is the ranking thart most have followed, among the fighting breed—

1. The Bengal tiger of India.
2. The African lion.
3. The African buffalo which might whip even a tiger or a lion.
4. The African gorilla.
5. The Spanish fighting bull.
6. The big grizzly or the Alaskan brown bear.

If Mr. Mike Jacobs or Mr. Chick Meehan, the fight impressarios, can pull it off, Mr. Buck would like to have the big brown bear moved from sixth to first place.

He isn't offering any big odds. He admits the tiger's speed might be damaging.

"But the tiger weighs only around three or four hundred pounds, while the big Alaskan bear moves up from a thousand to twelve hundred pounds of speed and ferocity, plus a guarding protection of thick hair," Mr. Buck says.

How Can We Prove It?

The big Alaska brown bear is a pretty fair entry. He is big enough, strong enough, fast enough and game enough.

You get a little bit bored when you hear about the ferocity of the Indian tiger and the African lion. Neither has the ferocity of the black panther or leopard. Mr. Buck will testify to that. Even a tiger wants no part of a black panther. It would be much the same as if Joe Louis admitted that he wanted no part of Zivic. Maybe he doesn't at that. Zivic is another black leopard or panther.

South America hasn't so much to offer. Only the jaguar, about 50-50 with our mountain lion or cougar. Neither is much good, not against any class. Platers against top stake horses. An airedale might bother either. He at least would be gamer. So would a pit bulldog. So would a wolverine or a wildcat, especially on the gamer side.

But we still can't prove it. The S.P.C.A. won't let Messrs. Jacobs or Meehan put on a proving program.

Gargantua Good

"Gargantua would be no push-over for any animal," Buck tells you. "It is not only a matter of strength and speed in his case, but also his killing ferocity that must be considered. Five hundred pounds of unleashed lightning fury is nothing to meet on the highway.

"If you had to name the main champion it would be a big bull elephant. In the first place, his great bulk is more than any other animal can handle. In the second place, the elephant is smart. In the third place, he is faster than most people imagine him to be. He may look slow and lumbering, but he can get into action in a hurry when there is trouble around.

"But when one of those big Alaskan brown bears rears up he looks almost as big as an elephant. Weighing one thousand pounds or more, he is a giagantic looking monster when he rears up and charges. He has amazing strength and also amazing speed for so much bulk. His heavy fur is good protection against either fang or claw. The tiger is faster, one of the fastest of all wild animals, but the tiger would have to give away too much weight. It would make a great fight, for all that.

"But wild animals are different from humans. Few of them start out looking for a fight. They fight only for food, barring the black leopard or panther which is usually quarrelsome and mean. Pound for pound, I still rank him as the best of them all."

"Pound for pound," someone suggested, "what about a forty-pound wildcat?"

"Not bad," said Mr. Buck, "but on that basis I'll string with the black leopard."

Mioland To Seek Sunset Handicap

Howard Ace then Will Come East for Another Shot at Whirlaway

LOS ANGELES, July 22. (AP)—The C. S. Howard stable feels that Mioland is sharp, that racing luck cost him last week's $75,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, and so Mioland will go after the $25,000 Sunset Handicap Saturday and then head east, hoping for another chance against "wacky" Whirlaway.

Trainer Tom Smith will ship the topnotchers of the Howard stable for Washington Park, July 29. Porter's Cap will try to grab the American derby. Mioland, although giving gobs of weight to everything he has met, will try to get at Whirlaway just once more, unless the handicappers throw the office safe on his back.

Everybody in the Howard stable is high on Mioland's chances here next Saturday with 128 pounds at a mile and five-eighths. They think he will run Paperboy and the other lightweights down in the stretch provided he isn't hemmed in early and thrown off stride, as he was last week.

Big Pebble, winner of the Hollywood Gold Cup, left today for Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Accompanying him were Stablemates Battle Colors, three-year-old, and Sir War, outstanding juvenile. The Circle M Stable will campaign this late summer and fall in New England, New York and Maryland.

Athletics Score Over Browns, 4-1

A's Tally All Their Runs in Second with Seibert's Triple Featuring

PHILADELPHIA, July 22 (AP)—Exploding five hits for all of their runs in the second inning, the Philadelphia Athletics opened their home stand today with a 4 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Dick Seibert's triple off the right field wall was the big blow of the Athletics' uprising against Bob Harris. Bob Johnson opened the inning with a single and scored on Seibert's three-base blow. Sam Chapman's single sent Seibert across the plate. Frank Hayes forced Chapman, but Pete Suder's single sent Hayes to third and Pitcher Jack Knott singled over the infield to score both runners.

Brownell Takes State Golf Title

BALTIMORE, July 22 (AP)—Bobby Brownell, 22-year-old amateur from Washington's Manor club, won the Maryland state open golf championship at Elkridge club with a record score of 69-67—136, six under par for the thirty-six holes.

He is the first amateur to win the title since Fred A. Savage, Jr., of Elkridge captured it in 1924.

To win Brownell had to tie his own course record of 67 which he set last week in the Baltimore open, Andy Gibson of Bonnie View, Baltimore, playing in the same threesome with Brownell and Edgar Lucas, Baltimore Country club amateur, won the low professional purse with a 70-68—138.

Rut Coffey, pro at Fountain Head Country club, Hagerstown, finished third with 71-70—141. Coffey was one of three players who tied for the lead last year but with Al Houghton, pro of Beaver Dam, Washington, lost in a play off to Cliff Spencer, East Potomac Park, Washington, professional.

Houghton, who held the tournament record with a 139 scored in 1936, came up fourth with a 74-68—142.

Two more amateurs ended in a fifth-place tie with Pro George Difenbaugh of Kenwood, Washington, who shot 73-70—143. They were Ralph Bogart of Indian Springs, Washington, 72-71—143, and Spencer Overton, Rolling Road, Baltimore, 70-73—143.

PARDON, MISS ANNIE — MADAME WISHES YOU TO RIDE WITH HER THIS MORNING
GLORYOSKY, THAT'LL BE GRAND!
I'LL HURRY UP AN' EAT BREAKFAST AS FAST AS I KIN, AN'— PARDON, MISS — BUT THERE IS NO NEED TO HURRY
MADAME IS STILL SLEEPING — I WILL RETURN WHEN IT IS TIME FOR YOU TO CHANGE YOUR CLOTHES
DARRELL McCLURE
CHANGE MY CLOTHES? THIS IS A BRAND-NEW DRESS — I THINK IT'S BEAUTIFUL

ETTA KETT

By PAUL ROBINSON

I'VE BEEN WORKING ON HIM — BUT HE'S STILL OUT LIKE A LIGHT!
I PHONED A HOSPITAL — THE AMBULANCE IS ON ITS WAY!
WE WERE SAILING — AND SAW HIM JUMP IN — YOU PULLED HIM OUT JUST IN TIME!
FUNNY — HE WAS YOUNG — WELL-DRESSED — WHAT DID HE DO A THING LIKE THAT FOR!
THERE'S PROBABLY A GIRL AT THE BOTTOM OF IT!
THAT'S AN IDEA! MAYBE HE LEFT A NOTE?
HERE'S ONE!

Loveless Admitted Slaying Employer, 3 Witnesses Say

Defense Objects as State Prepares To Introduce Confession

The state case against Earl Loveless, 22-year-old Washington county farm-hand, on trial in circuit court here for the murder of Roleigh Poffenberger, his aged employer, moved toward its climax yesterday with the introduction of strong circumstantial evidence pointing to the defendant as the slayer.

As court adjourned for the day at 5 p. m., State's Attorney Charles F. Wagaman was preparing to introduce a confession allegedly made by Loveless on the night of June 11.

Admitted Slaying, Three Say

Earlier, three prosecution witnesses had quoted Loveless as admitting slaying Poffenberger, and an incriminating conversation between Loveless and James Lee Miller, jointly indicted for the brutal crime, was related by an officer who said he overheard it by means of a dictaphone placed in the cell of the Washington county jail where the men were confined.

Formal introduction of the purported confession was delayed by a defense effort to show that it was extracted by threats and promises. The defendant was placed on the stand to challenge its validity after four police officers and a stenographer testified that he had made it freely and voluntarily, without any threats or promises of reward, and had signed it before a notary public.

Although admitting no threats were made on the night he gave the statement, Loveless insisted various officers had threatened on previous occasions to "beat my head in" if he did not sign. He added that he was told he would be "better off" if he did sign and that his father would be released from jail.

On cross-examination, Loveless admitted he had not been frightened by the threats. He did not, however, make the statement because he wanted to, he went on, but because he "got tired" of the questioning and "wanted to have some peace."

Signed After 8-Hour Session

The statement was typed and signed at 8 a. m., as a result of questioning which began at midnight, it was brought out.

Another point made by the youthful defendant was that he had not taken an oath as to the truth of the statement, although the affadavit was executed by Mrs. Virginia Kline, the state's attorney secretary and a notary public. "I didn't raise my hand and swear to it," Loveless insisted.

The validity of the statement was affirmed by Lieut. Edward J. Chapman, of the Western Maryland railway police, who was a volunteer investigator in the case; State Police Detective-Sergeant John J. Cassidy, Washington County Investigator Wayne A. Sellman and Sheriff Joseph Baker, in addition to Mrs. Kline. State's Attorney Wagaman was also present when the confession was obtained, testimony revealed.

Youth, 18, Is Star Witness

Star witness for the state was Jack Preston Sisk, 18, who worked with Loveless on the Poffenberger farm. Sisk was one of the three witnesses who testified Loveless had admitted committing the crime, and he also told of the defendant and Miller returning to the Loveless home with their clothing covered with blood the night of October 11, when Poffenberger was killed.

The two young men were asked by Helen Loveless, "My God, what have you boys done?" Sisk related, to

Then too, the coming of two weeks of races at the Cumberland fair will be cause for the men to buy those cool summer togs which add much to comfort during the hot days usually experienced in August.

If in doubt as to what you may need just turn to the special dollar days section in today's News and this afternoon's Times for timely suggestions.

The rates are seventy-five cents a month for single employe, $1.50 a month for employe and spouse and $2 a month for employe and family. Each person covered is eligible for twenty-one days' care as a hospital bed-patient each contract year.

Those completing their applications not later than July 29 will be entitled to protection beginning August 1, 1941.

Local firms already enrolled include Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, Queen City Dairy Company, Inc., Farmers' Dairy, First National Bank, Swift and Company, Kenneweg Company, Atlantic Refining Company, Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, Eureka-Maryland Assurance Corporation, Equitable Life Insurance Company, Sporer's Garage, Radio Station WTBO, Liberty Trust Company, Conlon Insurance Agency, Allegany County Welfare Board and Burton's.

Cumberland Fails To Get Invitation To Defense Confab

Irvine Surprised When Local Men Are Not Called To Discuss Priorities

Mayor Harry Irvine expressed surprise last evening when the city failed to receive an invitation to attend a meeting in Baltimore today of federal, state, county and city officials to discuss the question of priorities as applied to public works, called by Isaac S. George, executive secretary of the Maryland Council of Defense.

The meeting is being held in accordance with the federal community facilities, providing for establishment of priorities for sewerage, water supplies, schools, access roads and streets, recreation facilities, hospitals and power plants.

Irvine, whose communications with federal authorities regarding water works priorities attracted national attention last spring, said he was unable to understand why Cumberland did not receive an invitation after learning that mayors of Baltimore, Laurel, Hagerstown, Frederick, Annapolis and Aberdeen as well as the county commissioners of Anne Arundel, Prince Georges, Harford and Baltimore counties had been invited.

State officials asked to be present include Ezra B. Whitman, chairman of the roads commission; Dr. Robert H. Riley, director of the health department, and George L. Hall, chief engineer of the health department.

Federal officials to attend the meeting include J. E. Rodgers, consultant of the priority board of recreation; Floyd Merryman, of the Social Security administration staff; and L. S. Shyrock, of the Public Works Administration.

Rotarians Are Told that Hitler And Nazism Are Doomed to Defeat

May Take Long Time, Brian Barker Says, but Downfall Will Come

Hitler and all for which Nazi Germany stands are doomed to defeat, in the firm belief of Brian Barker of Mercersburg, Pa., academy, where he is faculty advisor for The Mercersburg News.

It may take a long time, Barker declared in addressing the local Rotary club at its weekly luncheon yesterday at the Fort Cumberland hotel, but defeat is inevitable if anything is to be gained from the experiences of the past.

For nearly five centuries the human race has moved toward human freedom and fellowship, the speaker explained, high marks having been registered by Runnymede, the French Revolution, the American Constitution, the independence of the British commonwealths and the League of Nations effort.

Many Disgraceful Events

During this long struggle there have been many disgraceful events and incidents, Barker noted, such as religious persecutions, lynchings, bribery and corruption in city governments, the opium drug war, strikes, on all of which we can look with regret. But it is upon such things, through mass force, that the dictatorships have capitalized.
